

PAY AT ONCE
If this is marked with a blue pencil it shows that your subscription is due (or will be at the end of this month)
and must be paid at once if your Avalanche will be stopped.

Crawford Avalanche

JUSTICE AND RIGHT

VOLUME XLIV

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, JULY 13, 1922

OSCAR P. SCHUMANN, Editor and Proprietor

NUMBER 28

R. R. STRIKERS MEET CITIZENS

MAYOR CANFIELD INVITES WORKERS TO AID IN KEEP-ING UP LOCAL SERVICE.

The fact that unless the railroads could continue in operation and supply our mills with raw material it became evident that our factories might soon be forced to close down and thereby throw hundreds of men out of employment. As mayor of our town Dr. Canfield concluded that he would call a meeting of the striking railroad men in conjunction with the local business men in the endeavor to try and moderate matters so that the local shops might be able to render such service that the repair work at the railroad shops might continue and thus our mills be kept in operation.

The meeting was called for last Saturday night at the Board of Trade rooms, and was well attended. It was presided over by Holger F. Peterson, president of the Board of Trade. Mr. Hanson, speaking in the interest of Grayling generally asked the strikers if it would be possible for them to go back to their jobs provided they were assured that when the strike was settled that they continue in their same positions that they had previously held. He showed them that if the strike continued that our mills would have to be closed and many men would be out of work and business would suffer generally. He asked them to do this for the good of our town.

James Cameron speaking for the railroad men, said that this would be impossible for them to do so, as they were under orders of their head officials, and said that they could not return to work until such time as they were ordered to do so by these officials. He then read an extensive report of their affairs that lead up to the call of the strike, covering a period of nearly two years. In the report were communications between the unions and the operators as well as with the U. S. labor board.

There had been several reports in circulation that some of the men now working at the round house had been intimidated and that there had been threats that they would be killed if they continued to work there. Such reports the railroad men declined to believe and assured the citizens that they could depend upon it that no person would be molested by any of their union members.

There was considerable discussion but it was plain to be seen that nothing could be done to help local matters. Considerable protest was made by the strikers because of the fact that the Michigan Central was having armed guards on duty at the shops to protect the workers. To assure the owners who have not already secured their services as guards to protect the property of the Company.

NOTICE.

As required by Section 17, of Act No. 339 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan for the year 1919, I shall on the 15th day of July next turn over to the sheriff and prosecuting attorney of Crawford County a complete list of all unlicensed dogs for the year 1922 as made out from reports furnished me by the various township supervisors and treasurers, and the assessor of Grayling Village. According to these reports there appears to be a large number of unlicensed dogs in this county. All dog licenses should obtain same from me at once in order to avoid the penalties prescribed by statute.

Edwin S. Chalker,
Treasurer Crawford County.

For a Better Town.

Conducted by Grayling Board of Trade.

SPECIAL TO THE "SLACKER."

Some of our business men are not getting in line. Several merchants have not yet taken it upon themselves to attend the meetings of our business men. You can not get by longer with "George do it." It is up to every business man to get out and meet with us when the time comes. Unless some of these men make an effort to get out and make it known that they are willing to help we are going to advertise them as such. Our last meeting was not very well attended but it was a real get-together occasion and those who stayed away have missed something and they are going to miss a great deal more unless they get out and rub shoulders with the rest. Those who attended the last meeting, July 10, are as follows:

George Burke,
James McDonald,
A. J. Joseph,
Thomas Trudo,
Ben Yoder,
O. A. Hilton,
A. Trudeau, Sr.,
Harvey Wheeler,
Efner Matson,
Dr. C. R. Keyport,
H. F. Peterson,
H. A. Bauman,
John Rosenstand,
Arnold Burrows,
Robert Legner,
F. R. Welsh,
Burt Mitchell.

Some of these men have attended every meeting called. Others have attended one or more. Those who do come to the meeting are interested in the welfare of our village and are boosting their own business. The time is coming when the general public will discriminate against the fellow who takes all and gives nothing. We notice one fellow made a particular "holier" and he doesn't seem interested in anything except his own particular welfare. Another fellow is trying to hinder the business of other merchants. He will bear watching and we expect to see him sadly miffed some day for butting in where he has no right. If you can't boost, don't knock, but, why not boost?

Some of our merchants are not observing a regular closing hour. Most of them are and the rest could and should fall in line. We believe it is necessary for the best interests of everyone. There is no reason why grocers, clothing merchants, hardware merchants, jewelers, barbers, furniture dealers and others could not have a set closing hour. Clerks are entitled to consideration and the merchants should provide themselves with leisure hours for recreation, time at home and now and then an evening to meet with his fellows in business. Co-operation among our merchants is needed in this respect. Friendly calls should be the rule as well. Patronize your brother merchant and co-operate with him always.

At the last meeting a general discussion on good roads, paving our main street, taxation, welfare of our business men, was held and all present were interested. Some real talks developed in the interest of each subject. It is the opinion of all that our business men are getting better acquainted and have a more cordial feeling toward each other.

Attention was called to the terrible condition of the road leading to Lake Margrethe. This road has been recently graveled on top of the old road bed and it is in no better condition than formerly. This should be remedied at once as the heavy traffic will wear it out and when the soldiers are camped at the reservation. The county road commissioners should make every possible effort to have this road put in good condition at once.

We are going to have some large signs made and placed where they will do the most good for Grayling. Also signs are being made to be placed on all roads leading to Grayling. We believe in signs and they will soon be placed where all can see that Grayling is a live town and a good place to live.

On Sunday, July 16th, there will be an excursion over the M. & N. E. R. R. from Manistee to Grayling. It will be well for all our merchants and business men, as well as all our towns people to turn out and welcome the visitors, and entertain them. We want to show these visitors that we are boosters for Grayling and besides being DARN GOOD FOLKS. Our local ball team have provided a good game for this day. Every body helps.

Our Board of Trade is planning a Field Day for August 5th. Everybody in Crawford and adjoining counties will be invited. Mr. R. D. Conine has kindly donated the use of his grove out main street for the festivities. More details will be given later and all will be asked to get busy and make this a big day.

By the way, our good citizen Mr. M. Hanson has provided a radio-telephone for the Board of Trade and it will be used for the pleasure and benefit of every one. It will be installed shortly.

Holger F. Peterson, Pres.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

$35,000 VOTED AT SCHOOL MEETING

As usual the attendance at the annual school meeting was small, there being just 13 legal voters in attendance, 10 men and three ladies.

The usual reports were offered, showing the amounts received and spent during the past year, an account of which will appear in print in the AVAANCHE at an early date. Dr. C. R. Keyport, whose term of office expired at this time, was re-elected for another term of 3 years. Thorwald P. Peterson received five votes out of the 13 cast. President Keyport and Secretary M. A. Bates told of some of the things that the board had accomplished during the past year and also of some of the things they hoped to do. There were also a few remarks by some of the patrons and the board was congratulated upon some of the good things they had accomplished. The addition of domestic science and art to the school curriculum also seemed to please some of the patrons.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The July term of Circuit court that convened at the Court house Tuesday noon was a short one. Hon. Guy E. Smith of Gladwin was present and Claude L. Austin, court stenographer of West Branch was in his usual place.

There were four criminal cases of violation of the prohibition law. In the matter of The People vs. William H. Moshier, the defendant stood mute, and the case was continued to the October term of court. In the cases of The People vs. Arthur Bolt, Tom Butler and Rolly Sullivan, all three pleaded guilty and were sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs of $25 or 90 days in jail. Sullivan paid his fine, but the others have not decided which they will do.

The assumpsit cases of Vitagraph Incorporated vs. Benjamin L. Langer, et al; Jackson Steel Products Company vs. McIntyre & Nelson and Alpina Battery Service Corporation vs. Seeley B. Wakabay were all continued to the next term of court. Also the divorce case of Lucille Hahn vs. Lloyd N. Hahn and the case of John Morrissey vs. Julia LeVentre petition for modification of Decree were continued. The case of Annie Banfield vs. Louis Banfield, divorce was dismissed. No jury was impelled for this term.

AVOID DROWNING. LEARN TO SWIM.

"Learn to swim—drowning season now open"—Y. M. C. A. sign.

"Come on in the water's fine" bathing beach sign.

Hundreds of swimmers who heeded the first slogan are bathing this year while 223 persons who lashed into the water on reading the second announcement last year were drowned. "Don't swim within an hour after eating has long been a swimming don't, but even more important than that is the don't that prohibits swimming when one is tired or the body overheated," says Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner. "A large percentage of drownings in four months of 1921 was caused by persons becoming exhausted because they were tired before they began swimming or because the body was so overheated that the cold water produced cramps with disastrous effects. Bathing during the hot part of the day is dangerous."

Every summer claims its quota of victims by drowning. Figures compiled in the bureau of vital statistics for four months of 1921 show the number who came to their death by drowning: June 77; July 92; August 37; September 17; Total 223. "If everyone knew how to prepare for a swim and knew the mere rudiments of artificial respiration fewer persons would be sacrificed," says Dr. Olin. "When a bather has been brot from the water apparently drowned, don't delay a moment in beginning resuscitation. At any minute up to two or three hours signs of recovery may appear. Use the Schafer or one man method of restoring breathing. Before going into the water, one should feel confident of his stroke, be in good physical condition and never tired or overheated."

FISH HATCHERY CLOSES SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The Grayling Fish Hatchery will close down this week. They have finished this year's planting, which was 4,705,000 brook trout, and 70,000 rainbow. We consider this pretty good for the size of the hatchery. The Grayling hatchery does not look for so many eggs next year, on account of many hatcheries being built in the state, the one at Wolverine which will be the largest in the state will no doubt plant the northeastern part, of the lower peninsula, but it is expected that the Grayling hatchery will get its usual allotment for the County and south of here.

BAR ASS'N HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Barristers of 34th Judicial District Meet for Business and Pleasure.

Judge Nelson Sharpe of Supreme Court is Guest of Honor.

The attorneys of the 34th judicial circuit, comprising the counties of Gladwin, Arenac, Ogemaw, Roscommon, Crawford and Otsego, met in Grayling Monday afternoon for their second annual meeting. Together with them were officials of the several counties named who are recognized as honorary members of the association. The presence of Hon. Nelson Sharpe of the Supreme court, a former judge of this judicial district, added greatly to the pleasantness of the occasion and we are sure that none enjoyed bumping elbows any more than did he. The afternoon was devoted to a business session, a number of brief addresses, and election of officers. While this was an "annual" meeting, the last "annual" was held in West Branch October 3, 1919.

The meeting was called to order by the president, E. M. Harris of West Branch, who also responded with a talk on the subject "Necessity of getting together meetings of this character." "Questions on which legislation is needed" was the subject of an address by James B. Ross, of West Branch. Elmer G. Smith of Grayling handled the subject of "The ethics of the profession." S. E. Hayes, of Standish, talked on the topic "Is the business of law becoming centralized in large centers?" "Are we to blame for this condition?" These talks were excellent and especially those by Mr. Smith and Mr. Hayes. The question box that was arranged for the afternoon, was postponed until the evening meeting.

Those members of the association to enroll at the meeting are as follows: Geo. L. Alexander, Grayling; Elmer G. Smith and W. L. Townsend, Grayling; R. J. Crandell and S. E. Hayes, Standish.

Judge Guy E. Smith and F. L. Prindle, Gladwin; Hon. Nelson Sharpe, C. L. Austin, F. R. Chapin, William T. Yee, James B. Ross and E. M. Harris, West Branch; Hiram R. Smith, Roscommon; Elmer G. Smith, Otsego county; Homer L. Fitch, Crawford county; Hiram R. Smith, Roscommon county; E. R. Chapin, Ogemaw county; F. L. Prindle, Gladwin county and R. J. Crandell, Arenac county.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Willis L. Townsend, Grayling.

Vice President—Sanford E. Hayes, Standish.

Secretary-treasurer—Hiram R. Smith, Roscommon.

Executive committee—Elmer G. Smith, Otsego county; Homer L. Fitch, Crawford county; Hiram R. Smith, Roscommon county; E. R. Chapin, Ogemaw county; F. L. Prindle, Gladwin county and R. J. Crandell, Arenac county.

Guests of Business Men.

Just as soon as the afternoon session adjourned, the visitors became the guests of the Board of Trade and all were waiting them. Rules were taken to several of the places of attraction in this vicinity. A visit to the Reindeer ranch seemed to be most appreciated. Here many were permitted to see for the first time a herd of genuine Norwegian reindeer—52 in all, besides a large number of little ones that were born after coming to this country. Also a visit to the Han-son State military reservation and to Grayling's famous trout hatchery were enjoyed.

Banquet at Shoppenagon Inn. Complimentary of the Board of Supervisors and J. J. Niederer, the guests were given a banquet at Shoppenagon Inn. Mrs. Bobenmeyer, manager of the dining room of that famous hostelry, did herself proud by the fine chicken dinner that was served the banqueters. After enjoying the fine repast everyone was ready to listen to the excellent talks that were given.

Hiram R. Smith, of Roscommon, was the toastmaster. He acknowledged the fine hospitality that had been accorded them and on behalf of the association thanked the citizens for the good time they had given them and the board of supervisors for the fine banquet. As the first speaker he introduced Willis L. Townsend of that city and a man who is greatly beloved in his home community because of his genuineness and high ideals.

Mr. Townsend spoke on "Our Supreme court." His address was masterfully prepared and beautifully given, and none could help but have a higher esteem for our high court after hearing his remarks. He had high praise for the Supreme court because of the part it had so successfully played in framing up the great principles of justice and right in Michigan. Our Michigan court ranks second among all the states of our union, the State of Massachusetts having the honor of ranking first.

"Early associations" was the title of a subject responded to by Hon. Nelson Sharpe, justice of the Supreme court of Michigan and a former judge of our judicial district. He was paid a glowing tribute by the toastmaster and introduced as "Just plain, honest Justice Sharpe." In token of the high esteem and love in which he is held by the attorneys of the district over which he so long presided, every person rose to their feet as the speaker stood up to address them.

Judge Sharpe said that he came here to mingle again with the people of this vicinity and that he was greatly enjoying it. He complimented Mr. Townsend for his brilliant address and offered a few suggestions to his fellow attorneys, and suggested that there should be confidence on the part of the lawyers for the bench and also that judges should have confidence in the attorneys. He recalled some of the instances that had come up during the time he presided as judge in this district, and spoke of some of his early associations. The success of this district, he said, was due to the kindness of the bar and of the people. He told of some of the workings of the Supreme court and of how that the business was developing faster than they were able to dispose of it, and spoke in favor of having an intermediate court. Such a court, he said, should be conducted at the expense to the people and should do away with the necessity of costly printed records.

O. P. Schumann, who is an honorary member of the bar association, spoke on the subject "The best advertising," and offered his listeners a few suggestions that he believed could be ethically used in the promotion of their profession. He also told of a few unusual things he had heard at various times in court.

Frank L. Prindle of Gladwin responded on the subject "How should a lawyer be guided in his fees?" He claimed that it was impractical to establish any fixed fees for service and said that he had derived as much satisfaction from cases where he had received no fees at all as he had from some that had brought him the largest fees.

"The art of briefing" was talked on by Geo. L. Alexander of this city, and he offered what seemed to an editor to be good, plain, common-sense advice. Such a brief as he would advocate would enable the higher court to understand fully and readily the subject without the necessity of lengthy perusal of the matter before them. Dr. Oscar Palmer, whose retirement from the practice of law seems not to have lost him the high esteem of the legal profession, spoke briefly on the subject "The lawyer's ideals." He was introduced by the toastmaster as the "Grand old man of Crawford county," a title that he has long held in the hearts of his home people. As he arose he was given a splendid ovation and every person at the table arose to his feet in his honor. He assured his friends of his appreciation of the courtesy accorded him and among his brief remarks said that he hoped the Good Lord would make them all ideal.

Next was opened the question box on many queries were offered for discussion for the good of the people and the legal profession.

All proclaimed that they had had an exceptionally good meeting and a good time in Grayling. Most of the visitors returned on the night train to their respective homes, while others left in autos and some remained over the following day. We are sure that the people of Grayling feel honored in having had the Bar association as their guests and hope that they have enjoyed their visit here so well that they will want to come again.

RESOLUTION.

WHEREUPON it has been our privilege and pleasure to meet in convention upon this 11th day of July, A. D. 1922 in the Village of Grayling where we have enjoyed the hospitality of the people of said community, we, the members of the Bar Association of the 34th Judicial circuit, therefore RESOLVE that we extend a vote of thanks to the citizens of Grayling for their hospitality and especially to the members of the Board of Trade who used their autos and showed the members the sights and places of interest about the town; and also to the Board of Supervisors who so generously provided a delightful banquet at Shoppenagon Inn. All of these things are greatly appreciated, and the pleasant time we had will long be remembered.

E. M. Harris, Pres.

Bar Ass'n 34th Judicial District of Mich.

HUCKLEBERRIES WANTED.

Will pay the highest market price, for them. For good full quarts and reasonably clean berries, put up in good boxes and crates, $5 per bushel. Or to my pickers I will sell crates and boxes for 30 cents. Will furnish crates and boxes take pickers out and back and pay $4 per bushel. Will take in berries every day or night.

E. A. Ready,
Back part of Russell Hotel.

MEN WANTED

Du Pont Co.
Grayling, Mich.

WHAT you want in a tire
is what you get in a Kelly-
Springfield—more mileage,
less trouble and reduced tire
cost.

PLENTY of Kelly-Springfield users right in this locality will back us up in this statement. Ask them.

SPECIAL PRICES ON KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRES FOR SHORT TIME ONLY.

30 x 3 1/2	32 x 4
Cord.....$14.50	Cord.....25.75
Fabric.....10.50	Fabric.....21.75
Tubes.....2.70	Tubes.....3.45
31 x 4	33 x 4
Cord.....24.50	Cord.....28.50
Fabric.....18.75	Fabric.....23.25
Tubes.....3.25	Tubes.....3.60

A. PETERSON & SON

Opening Week Specials

Kut
Rate

Lyons Bumpers for Fords, $24 value, per pair.....	$15.00
E. & J. Spot Lights, $4.50 value.....	1.98
Schrader Air Gauges, $1.25 value.....	.98
Luggage Carriers, $3 value.....	1.98
And others up to $4.39.
Bethlehem Spark plugs, for Fords 60c value.....	.49
Good Tire Pump.....	.98
Ford Cylinder Head Gaskets.....	.29
A. C. Spark plugs, any size $1 val.....	.69
100 assorted cotter pins, 25c value.....	.13
2 oz. bottle of Shellac, 25c value.....	.19
Ford Timer Looms, 60c value.....	.43
Dry Cells, 40c value.....	.33
4-Cell Hot Shot $2.50 value.....	2.19
3 1-2 inch Blow-Out Patches, 50c value.....	.29

These prices are good for one week. Mail orders filled at once. Open day and evenings, and Sunday mornings.

Benton's Auto Supply

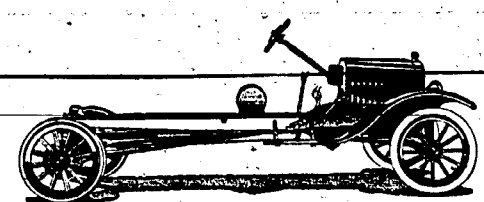

Benton Jorgenson, Prop'r.
New Store Opposite Court House. Grayling.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

And remember—the lowest first cost, the lowest upkeep and the highest resale value of any motor car ever built.

$430

F. O. B. DETROIT

Let the Ford One-Ton Truck cut your hauling and delivery costs. Records of savings made by hundreds of thousands of users in practically every line of business are actually astounding. Let us show you. You do not obligate yourself in any way.

EQUIPMENT

Pneumatic Tires and Demountable Rims. Your choice of either the special gearing 5 1-6 to 1 for speed delivery or the standard gearing 7 1-4 to 1 for heavy hauling.

Ford Sales and Service

GEORGE BURKE, Grayling, Mich.

10c Saves Need Buying a New Skirt
Putnam Fadeless Dyes—dyes or tints as you wish

True
Detective StoriesBOLAND, ALIAS
GARDNER

Copyright by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

WHEN Hyman and Hess, dealers in cloaks and suits on State street, Albany, N. Y., sent a check for $38.75 to Reils and Blum, garment manufacturers in New York city, they did not have the slightest idea that they were starting a chain of evidence which would land one of the cleverest crooks in America behind the bars.

A few days later, before the New York firm had time to report the nonarrival of the check and thus permit Hyman and Hess to look into the matter, a young man came into the National Commercial bank in Albany and presented a check for $380, made out to "Beurer." The date on the check, filled in with a rubber stamp, corresponded to the day on which it was presented, and the man who handed it to the paying teller mentioned casually that the check "was to cover an option" and that he had to hurry back to New York in order to complete the transaction. The paying teller, feeling certain that the signature was genuine, cashed the check, and the man who had presented it walked out of the bank with $380 in his pocket.

When Hyman and Hess had their account balanced they found that they were exactly $380 short—for the original check had never reached its New York destination, but had been lifted out of the mail box by one of a gang of clever criminals, the body of the check erased with an ink eraser and the date and amount filled in on top of the original signature.

"Only one man in the country could have done that and gotten away with it," growled George A. Fuller, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton Detective agency, when the bank called the details of the case to his attention. "It's Boland's work!"

"Yes, Boland," replied Fuller. "Or Gardner, as he sometimes calls himself. He's got a regular organization for this sort of thing. Trains boys to loot the mail boxes, washes the checks with an acid preparation of his own invention, writes in a higher amount, makes them payable to 'Beurer,' and then another of his tools catches them."

"If you know so much about the man," asked the amazed banker, "why hasn't he been arrested long before this?"

"It's easy enough to arrest a man," was Fuller's reply, "but it is sometimes very difficult to convict him. So far as the actual check-raising goes, Boland plays a lone hand. What's more, he pays his men well, and takes care of them if they happen to get caught. So far, none of 'em has turned state's evidence, and until they do—or until we catch Boland red-handed—there's nothing to do but be careful. We've got our eyes on him. He can't move without our knowing it."

Warned by Hyman and Hess check that the Boland outfit was once more conducting operations in New York state, the Pinkerton man kept close watch on all persons suspected of belonging to the organizations, with the result that three men were arrested and sentenced to terms in prison. But all of them stoutly refused to implicate the "man-higher-up."

Finally Boland and three of his associates were arrested in Boston, after a rather hot chase. They were charged with the suspected of robbing a mail box. Uno, the boy and Doyle, another of the organization, drew short terms for petty larceny, but Boland escaped on account of a technicality, and moved to New York where he tried to continue his operations. But the New York police and particularly Commissioner George S. Donaghy, made things so difficult, that he was soon reduced to the expedient of securing checks wherever he could—a necessity which led to the fatal slip which Fuller had predicted.

Out of the mail box of an up-town apartment house, one of Boland's apprentices secured a check for $50, made out to a real estate company in payment of the rental for one of the apartments. It was child's play for Boland to wash off the original name and amount and to write in the words "Beurer" and "Two Hundred and Eleven Dollars." Once that was done, he had a perfectly good check (apparently) and he sent one of his men down to the bank on which the check was drawn, with minute instructions as to the cashing of it. But the cashier, being suspicious of a check of that size being made out to "Beurer"—particularly as he knew that the woman whose signature appeared upon it was very careful in her financial dealings—declined to cash it, and Boland's man returned with a story of having been watched and therefore very fearful to approach the paying window.

Boland, in a spirit of bravado, again altered the check, this time making it out in the name of "William Rath" and set forth to cash the check himself, something which he had never before attempted. One glance at the odd amount—$211—and the recollection that a check of similar size had been presented that morning, payable to "Beurer," was enough to convince the paying teller that something was wrong. The Pinkertons were immediately notified and Boland was caught, red-handed.

Fifteen minutes after his case came up in the County court in Brooklyn, Boland was on his way to Sing Sing.

The Mosquito

According to an old negro mammy, who has passed all her days in New Orleans, the mosquito is a scolding, treacherous bug. "Here he comes," she says, "close to you, ain't he, lovin' and gentle-like. 'Counin' counin'." But just as soon as he's got a good meal he ain't got no more like for you than plizen. Then he flirts his ugly, skinny old head and sails away, singing 'No kin, no kin, no kin.'—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE HOME RADIO

How to Make and Use It By A. HYATT VERRILL

AMMETERS

Ammeters are instruments designed to measure the flow of electricity through the wires and are often very essential parts of a radio outfit. They consist, as far as exterior appearances go, of a dial marked with figures and a hand or needle. Although they are not high priced and it is not advisable to try to make them, still there is nothing mysterious or complicated about them and the amateur, who likes to experiment with home-made instruments, can readily construct an ammeter which will work and is fairly reliable. This instrument is known as a "hot-wire ammeter" (Fig. 20).

INDUCTANCES AND TUNING COILS

In order to receive and hear sounds sent from transmitting stations by radio waves clearly and without interference or confusion, a device of some sort is required which will cut out all unwanted waves.

As is known as "tuning" and the instruments or appliances used to accomplish it are called "tuners." There are now a great many different devices for tuning, such as tuning-coils, loose couplers, vario-couplers, variometers, variable condensers, etc. Of these, all but the variable condensers (which see) are coils of various types, the simplest, but by no means the most efficient, being the simple tuning-coils. These consist of a coil of bare wire wound about a core or cylinder of wood, fibre or pasteboard and provided with sliding contacts as shown in Fig. 30, in which A is the coil, B, the slide rod and C, the slider.

By moving the slider from coil to coil of the wire the wave length of the receiving instruments may be adjusted to catch the desired sounds of that wave length. Such coils are very easily made by winding a pasteboard tube—which should be soaked in melted paraffine to render it waterproof—with bare copper wire about No. 18, making about 40 turns and leaving a space of about 1-16 inch between the turns. If two or more sliders or contacts are arranged still finer adjustment will be obtainable, either by providing rotary switches with five contacts as shown in Fig. 31, still better results will be secured. Although, as stated, these coils are easily made, yet they are so cheap that many prefer to purchase them ready made rather than bother making them. Simple coils or inductances, however, are even simpler as they consist merely of a few turns of insulated copper wire wound on a pasteboard tube, the number of turns depending upon the wave lengths to be received. In some sets there is but one coil or helix (Fig. 32), while in other sets there are two, a primary and secondary (Fig. 33), and as a rule the coil should be tapped and the circuit connected at the tap off Fig. 34. This is best done by taking a loop or twist in the wire at the desired point and then continuing winding as Fig. 35. Of course, in making the connection at this tap-off the wire should be scraped free of insulation to make the joint, after which it should be wrapped with adhesive tape. In making these simple inductance coils it is best to put on more turns of wire than you think is actually required, as it is far easier to remove one turn at a time until the desired wave length is obtained, than it is to add turns after the instruments are set up. Similar simple coils are used in many parts of receiving sets, such as the radio-choke in Fig. 50, L, etc.

By making several tap-offs and then leading them to the various contacts of a multiple-point switch, Fig. 36, C, excellent results may be obtained especially with the smaller crystal sets with a single simple coil. Another way by which waves of varying lengths may be received by means of simple coils without tuning devices, is to have several coils of various sizes so arranged that they may be connected or disconnected with your set at will. This may be done, either by means of plugs and sockets as in Fig. 30, A, or by switches with several contacts as shown in Fig. 36, B. Still finer adjustment may be obtained by providing each coil with a slider or similar tuning device. This will give a wide range of wave lengths and will obviate all need of taking turns off the coils and as such coils are very easy to make you can have as many as you desire of different sizes.

Another very different type of inductance coil consists of two windings, known as primary and secondary, and are similar to the ordinary sparking coils used in older type automobiles, in power boats, etc. These are known also as transformers (which see) and while they can be made at home yet it is a tedious and difficult job to wind on the hundreds of turns of wire properly and as such coils are expensive it is never advisable to attempt it, unless you wish to make everything yourself, just for the practice and fun of it. Coils of this type may be purchased, but are made especially for radio use, but an ordinary spark-coil with the contact-breaker screwed or fastened down will answer every purpose. The same type of coil, using only the secondary winding, may be successfully employed as a choke-coil, as shown in Fig. 60, N.

A SIMPLE VACUUM TUBE RECEIVING SET

This set is one of the simplest that can be devised to use a vacuum tube detector and it may be set up by anyone at a lower cost than the ordinary crystal sets may be purchased ready-made. Moreover, tuning in this set is simplified to the minimum, there being but two adjustments to be made, the variable condenser and the rheostat. The whole set is plainly shown in Fig. 54, A being the aerial, B the ground, C the variable condenser, D the inductance, E the grid-leak, F the fixed condenser, G the grid, H the plate of tube, I the rheostat, J the six-volt battery, K the phone receivers and L the 22 volt B-battery.

The single inductance used is easily made by winding a pasteboard tube about three inches in diameter and two inches long with about forty-six turns of No. 20 double-covered, cotton-insulated copper wire. There should be a tap-off taken at the twenty-third turn, (which is done by making a loop in the wire) and then the next twenty-three turns wound on. The fixed condenser and grid-leak can be made as described in the article on "condensers" and the grid-leak, for best results, should be variable, which is easily arranged by using a paper and pencil leak and by adding lines or erasing them as described under "condensers." The fixed condenser should be about .001 mfd. and the variable condenser of from .0003 to .0007 mfd. Be sure to place the phone receivers and B-battery in series, the positive pole of the battery being connected to the tap-off on the inductance and the negative pole being led to the receivers as shown. In setting up and tuning you will very likely find it necessary to take one or two turns of wire from the upper end of the coil, which is easily done. In operating this set first bring the tube filament to a point where the oscillations produce a squeal or howl with the variable condenser set at zero. Then, by moving the condenser pointer over the scale slowly and carefully, you can determine the best point to receive signals. When this is determined, adjust the rheostat until the filament oscillates and then decrease the brightness a little. With a little practice and by marking the knobs you will be able to readily adjust the set very accurately and quickly.

DOCTORS PLAN A NEW "FINDER"

Chicago doctors are planning to install radio outfits in country clubs and on the golf links, so that they may be summoned by ailing patients. "The doctors' information bureau," with offices in the Masonic Temple, was commissioned to find out the best method for installing such sets. "A great number of the medical profession are golf fans," says a letter from the bureau, "and last year we

Daddy's Evening
Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. SUN.

"Hello, Clouds," said Mr. Sun. "Hello, Mr. Sun," said the Clouds. "They say I'm drawing water," said Mr. Sun, "but it's really not so. I'm not one to draw water in buckets of any other way."

"Ah, no, folks say that, but it's not really so. I look as though I were drawing water, but I'm only fooling them, ha, ha, ha." And Mr. Sun laughed a gay and merry laugh. "Well," said the Clouds, "we were planning a party today. We thought perhaps you might come to it, Mr. Sun."

"Where is it going to be?" asked Mr. Sun. "You know it is to be down on the earth, I couldn't accept."

"I'd like to accept, but I couldn't. Of course I could send the Ray children and the Sunbeam grandchildren down, but I mustn't leave my sky home."

"No, no," said the Clouds, "of course not."

"I can shine down on an earth party—but you know how it is, Clouds. I'm a regular home-body. I don't like to leave my sky home."

"I've always been a home-body, interested in other things it is true, but caring mostly for my home."

"You have never heard it said of Mr. Sun that he was a globetrotter."

"He sees others and he shines down on them."

"Come Billie Brownie."

On others, but he stays right where he should stay.

"He doesn't go peering around curtains and wondering what his neighbors are up to now."

"But about this party? Is it to be in the sky?"

"Yes, indeed," said the Clouds. "You know we can go near the tops of the mountains but we couldn't go down on the earth."

"What would the Clouds do down on the earth? Why they would be lost in all the excitement and they wouldn't know how to get along."

"Clouds haven't legs and feet and legs and feet are most important if one is living on the earth."

"True, true," said Mr. Sun. "Our party is to be in honor of Miss Rose Cloud who is having a coming-out party."

"I don't quite," said Mr. Sun, with a puzzled look on his face.

"Well, we've heard from the breeze that when little girls become young ladies they 'come out,' or they began 'going out.'"

"We don't mean such as coming out of cocoons or anything of that sort," the Clouds continued.

"No, we mean that they begin going to 'grown-up parties' and things of that sort."

"So we're having a coming-out party for Miss Rose Cloud. It is true she has been out before, but then you know in the sky we're not fuzzy about such little things. We've lived too long to be fuzzy about things."

"All you come to our party, Mr. Sun?"

"With the greatest of pleasure," said Mr. Sun.

"Ah, we rejoice to have your acceptance," said the Clouds, and looked gay and bubbly then ever.

"Dear me, dear me, what is this?" exclaimed the Clouds suddenly.

Up in an airship came Billie Brownie.

"I've heard there was a coming-out party for Miss Rose Cloud today," he said breathlessly, "and I brought a bunch of rare-spring flowers to her."

"The flowers were bluebells or Lung-worts. They were of great clusters of purplish-bluish flowers and were just as lovely as they could be."

"How very gracious of you," said Miss Rose Cloud, who had heard the noise from Billie Brownie's airship, and had appeared.

"You're out ahead of time," laughed the Clouds, "but no matter! This is such an exciting gift."

The party was a great success and Miss Rose Cloud said she would like to come out repeatedly and have parties given in her honor!

Influence.

Our democratic army drew into it one youth of wealth and social standing, who, by irony of fate, drew K. P. on his first detail. People who came to visit him were astounded to find their elite friend in such a humble chore, and inquired how it was possible for one of his position to be engaged in such menial duties.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the elite one nonchalantly, reaching for another spud. "Influence, I suppose, influence."—The Home Sector.

Chicken in Full Bloom.

Little Mary was visiting at Grandma's, her first trip to the country. She was out to the yard and saw the pet peacock strutting and spreading his feathers. She gazed a moment and ran into the house.

"Oh, Grandma," she said, "one of your chickens is in full bloom."

Just an Ornament.

"Jimmie C-C-Christmas, maw, you don't need to scrub my back. I never use it, so it can't be dirty."—Farm Life.

Don't be Penny Wise and Pound Foolish

Don't think because you can get a big can of Baking Powder for little money that you are saving anything.

There's Only One Way to Save on Bake-Day

USE

CALUMET

—It costs only a fraction of a cent for each baking.

—You use less because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength.

BEST BY TEST

The World's Greatest Baking Powder

Just So.

"Why were you exceeding the speed limit?"

"Judge, I was taking a visiting out friend to the station."

The Joke Market.

"You think culture is on the decline?"

"Yes, we get very few jokes."

YOU CAN WALK IN COMFORT

If you shake into your shoes some ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, the Antiseptic, Healing powder, you'll know how good it feels. It takes the friction from the shoe and gives relief to corns and bunions, hot, tired, sweating, swollen feet. Ladies can wear shoes one size smaller by shaking Allen's Foot-Ease in each shoe. —Advertisement.

The Reason.

Henry is a thirty-something, and the whole family of his "girl" know so, too. Occasionally the brothers wish to twist him about his thriftiness, but their sister has a plan for them, and so they have to keep still.

But the other night too good a chance came for Knight to fluss it. It was raining, and Henry drove his car into the garage, and entering the house, said: "I don't know of a sound that is more musical to me than the rain patter on the roof."

There is some contrast to the noise of the rain pattering over your motor," one of the brothers dashed back, "and a more comforting one, too."

Really Not Her Fault.

A ducky and his sweetheart, followed by three pickaninnies, applied to the clerk of a southern court-house for a license to wed.

The clerk eyed the assemblage doubtfully. "Whose children are these?" he asked.

"They ain't," was the ready response from the man.

The clerk was scandalized, being now at his post. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself wanting to get married till you have a family full grown."

"Judge, could have to excuse dat," interrupted the "bride," sweetly. "De roads out our way is so bad."

In 1950.

"I saw a pedestrian on the road yesterday."

"What? A live one?" "Live."

Dish washing being hateful, why wash dishes? —Why not?

Many a man has been bitten in a bad place by a woman's hand. —But, of course, he doesn't, so that does trade.

Why is most of the bread cast upon the waters sterile?

—'Tis better to be brief than tedious, the waters state?

—and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.

The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.

Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.

This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is baked for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Served with milk or cream Grape-Nuts is a complete food—and along with its nutritive qualities is that wonderful flavor!

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Made by Postum Cereal Company, Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Incident That Enlightened British Public Concerning Profession About Which Little Is Known.

The strike of funeral bearers in Hull calls attention to a profession of which comparatively little is known.

People are apt to look upon the somber figures who walk beside the hearse and carry the coffin to the graveyard as simply a part of the undertaker's outfit, but in reality these men are a profession to themselves. Usually they are small tradesmen, writes a correspondent, or out of work, ready to earn a few shillings in this way. Every undertaker has his own little band who can be relied upon to come whenever a funeral is arranged. The undertaker provides the hearse, a fact which counts for the grotesque fitting of some of the hearse, but the black suit must be provided or borrowed by the man himself. The fee varies from 75 cents to $1.25, according to the district, and there are men who can make $5 a week and upwards out of this line. At Hull the fee has been $1.25. Now the undertakers wish to drop it to $1 a funeral, and hence the strike of the bearers. —Manchester Guardian.

There may be plenty of room at the top, but victims of that tired feeling never reach it.

If a man believes all a woman says—but, of course, he doesn't, so that settles it.

'Tis better to be brief than tedious, the waters state?

—and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.

The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.

Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.

This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is baked for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Served with milk or cream Grape-Nuts is a complete food—and along with its nutritive qualities is that wonderful flavor!

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Made by Postum Cereal Company, Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Incident That Enlightened British Public Concerning Profession About Which Little Is Known.

The strike of funeral bearers in Hull calls attention to a profession of which comparatively little is known.

People are apt to look upon the somber figures who walk beside the hearse and carry the coffin to the graveyard as simply a part of the undertaker's outfit, but in reality these men are a profession to themselves. Usually they are small tradesmen, writes a correspondent, or out of work, ready to earn a few shillings in this way. Every undertaker has his own little band who can be relied upon to come whenever a funeral is arranged. The undertaker provides the hearse, a fact which counts for the grotesque fitting of some of the hearse, but the black suit must be provided or borrowed by the man himself. The fee varies from 75 cents to $1.25, according to the district, and there are men who can make $5 a week and upwards out of this line. At Hull the fee has been $1.25. Now the undertakers wish to drop it to $1 a funeral, and hence the strike of the bearers. —Manchester Guardian.

There may be plenty of room at the top, but victims of that tired feeling never reach it.

If a man believes all a woman says—but, of course, he doesn't, so that settles it.

'Tis better to be brief than tedious, the waters state?

—and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.

The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.

Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.

This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is baked for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Served with milk or cream Grape-Nuts is a complete food—and along with its nutritive qualities is that wonderful flavor!

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Made by Postum Cereal Company, Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Incident That Enlightened British Public Concerning Profession About Which Little Is Known.

The strike of funeral bearers in Hull calls attention to a profession of which comparatively little is known.

People are apt to look upon the somber figures who walk beside the hearse and carry the coffin to the graveyard as simply a part of the undertaker's outfit, but in reality these men are a profession to themselves. Usually they are small tradesmen, writes a correspondent, or out of work, ready to earn a few shillings in this way. Every undertaker has his own little band who can be relied upon to come whenever a funeral is arranged. The undertaker provides the hearse, a fact which counts for the grotesque fitting of some of the hearse, but the black suit must be provided or borrowed by the man himself. The fee varies from 75 cents to $1.25, according to the district, and there are men who can make $5 a week and upwards out of this line. At Hull the fee has been $1.25. Now the undertakers wish to drop it to $1 a funeral, and hence the strike of the bearers. —Manchester Guardian.

Attentin Smokers

We carry a full line of cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos. They are made right, kept right and sold right. Make our store your tobacco headquarters.

Central Drug Store

THE NYAL STORE CHRIS W. OLSEN, Prop'r
PHONE No. 1.

CRAWFORD AVALANCHE SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Year	$2.00
Six Months	1.00
Three Months	.50
Outside of Crawford county and Rosecommon, per year	$2.50

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Grayling, Mich., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

O. P. Schumann, Editor and Proprietor

THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1932.

LOCAL NEWS

Holger Hanson is driving a new Nash Sport model.

Stanley Matson is the new assistant at the Central Store.

Photographer J. H. Wingard is in Johannesburg today on business.

Prescriptions carefully compounded. Central Drug Store.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith on July 4th a daughter, Betty Mae.

Charles Abbott of West Branch was the guest of Grayling friends Sunday.

Jack Yuill of Vanderbilt was in Grayling Monday. He was driving a new Stutz car.

Mrs. Joseph Bolanger and son Benedict of Cheboygan are visiting friends in the city.

It is reported that Tom Mix of moving picture fame and a party of four friends are sojourning on the Pigeon River at Vanderbilt.

Fire perishes and toilet goods.

Central Drug Store.

Carl Rasmussen, who a few years ago was employed at the Grayling Greenhouse was in Grayling a couple of days last week, with his bride. The couple were on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bennett and children and Miss Marguerite Montour motored to Afton Saturday to visit relatives of Mrs. Bennett. Miss Vivian Pasasio a sister of Mrs. Bennett accompanied them home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brennan and children returned Friday from a motor trip to Saginaw. For the next two weeks the family with Mr. and Mrs. Claud Gilson will be at the Gilson cottage at Lake Margrethe for an outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Peterson and little daughter Jerine and Mr. and Mrs. William Kuster and son John and daughter Kathryn motored to Traverse City Sunday and spent the day as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Borchers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shoemaker and four children of Bay City, are in the city visiting Mrs. Shoemaker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horie, at her brother W. J. Horie and wife. Mrs. Shoemaker was formerly Miss Phoebe Horie.

Mrs. Ada Sangster, of Cheboygan, grand associate patron of the grand chapter O. E. S. will make an official visit to Grayling Chapter next Saturday, July 15. There will be a school of instruction and initiation. Members are requested to be present.

The Benton Auto Supply company is now open for business in the new building across from the Court house and Benton Jorgenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adler Jorgenson is the proprietor. The inside of the building is about finished and stock has been placed, but the outside is still to be completed. Mr. Jorgenson will carry everything in the auto accessory line. This business is not new to Mr. Jorgenson, as he was in a similar business with his father-in-law Mr. B. W. in Detroit, the latter who operates one of the largest wholesale auto accessory establishments in Detroit. Mr. Jorgenson is wished much success.

A bunch of nine keys with piece of chain attached, found in road. Owner may have same by calling on me and paying for this ad. P. G. Zalsman.

Miss Mary Cooley, who has been the guest of her brother B. A. Cooley and wife for two weeks will return to her home in Bay City tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Nelson and daughter Miss Clara in company with Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Rase of Johannesburg spent the Fourth in Manitowish.

Mrs. W. E. Russell and daughter Betty Jane visited at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schreck Thursday. They returned to Bay City Friday.

Miss Roberta Love, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Love is spending the summer in Manitowish, visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barnhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Rasmussen left Monday afternoon for New York, from where tomorrow they will sail for their native home in Denmark. Their passport read one year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion will be held Friday evening, July 14 at the C. A. R. hall. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Esbern J. Olson and son Neil Jr. are on a business and pleasure trip to Chicago and other cities, going by motor. Miss Ruby Olson has charge of the Olson shoe store during Mr. Olson's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Sivrais were guests over Sunday of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Sivrais, enroute to their home in Cheboygan from the southern part of the state, where they spent their honeymoon.

COME TO GRAYLING AUGUST 5TH

BIG PICNIC AND FIELD DAY PROGRAM BEING ARRANGED.

Auto Parade, Ball Game, Sports, Picnic Dinners, Music and Fun for all.

Some of our business men believed that it was about time that we had some kind of celebration so a few got together and decided that upon Saturday August 5, we would have a big celebration, one that would make everyone within a radius of a hundred miles sit up and take notice.

It is just going to be a gigantic picnic and field day, where every family can join in and have the time of their lives. R. D. Connine has offered his pretty grove at the end of Michigan avenue for the use of picnickers, where they can prepare and eat their meals, amidst clean, cool and comfortable surroundings.

Besides there is going to be an auto parade and every auto within reaching distance is invited to get into it. Geo. Burke, Real Estate Agent, is already claiming that there will be more Ford cars in the parade than all the other makes combined. You are going to have a chance to look 'em all over and, believe us, there are a lot of handsome cars in this vicinity this year. Of course they will be decorated, and good substantial prizes are going to be offered for the best ones.

Arrangements are being made for a bang-up good ball game for those who enjoy that sport. There will be good sports, good music, jolly crowds and no limit of fun. Yes, and dancing too if desired. Valuable prizes will be offered for the winners of contests by local business men.

The executive committee is made up of Holger P. Peterson, George Burke, Anthony Nelson, R. D. Connine and Mayor C. A. Canfield. P. L. Brown will be marshal of the day. Watch for announcements of further particulars.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT N. E. MICHIGAN.

Twenty thousand blotters advertising Eastern Michigan as a vacation district are being sent out by members of the Northeastern Michigan Development bureau and the Huron Shore Tourist association. The blotters are used as stuffers in out going mail and are supplied by the latter association.

Grayling board of trade is putting out three thousand of the Northeastern Michigan Resort folders on which they are advertising Grayling and free camping grounds on Lake Margrethe formerly Portage Lake.

The Development bureau is receiving some excellent samples of alfalfa but needs much more. Samples of all grasses and grains in the straw, are very acceptable. Farmers having anything in this line good or above the average will render a service by sending samples to the Development bureau at Bay City. All material should be cut a little before ripe and dried in the shade.

Two hundred cards 11 by 21 inches similar to the blotters in advertising Eastern Michigan are being used in the suburban cars of Detroit for the Huron Shore Tourist association by the Michigan Street Car Advertising company. Similar cards are to be placed in passenger stations on the railroad.

One and a quarter million pounds of picric acid has recently been allotted to Michigan for agricultural purposes.

One thousand pounds is the maximum amount allowed to a farmer. The price in cartridge form is about 12 cents per pound. Car load lots only are shipped but the railroads recently provided a stop over in transit rate which makes the car order no hardship. Interested farmers should get in touch with their county agricultural agents at once. Last year north-eastern Michigan secured only a part of the amount allotted to the state.

Some places may brag of clover, but if anyone can find more clover and a finer lot of it than was seen last week on a trip from Grayling to Alpena, let some "Cloverland" place could surpass the beautiful fields of alfalfa, June and sweet clover seen on this trip. The hay crops through this section must be immense.

The Prescott sale of short horn cattle held at the Prescott & Sons ranch last week was well attended, and while the prices were not so high as they should have been yet from other angles the sale was worth much to northeastern Michigan. First buyers from the outside were acquainted with our fine grazing and farming lands. They also had the opportunity of seeing the remainder of the large herd of cattle and could see the uniform excellent quality of this nationally famed herd.

Second, the majority of the animals were sold to Michigan people. One of the highest priced females was purchased by W. B. Piper of East Tawas.

The sale is to be an annual event with the Prescotts and is to be hoped that it will continue to be held at the farm, the same as this year, and not in Chicago as was the case last year even though the prices at the latter place might run some higher.

MAN WANTED.

I have 280 acres south side of Main Stream near North Branch to be developed for summer home. Under brush cleaned out, healthy trees left standing. Permanent position for married man who will appreciate good opportunity. Will build living quarters, finance reasonable cattle proposition and divide profits and will pay $50.00 per month salary. Applicant must furnish recommendations from 8 reputable citizens of Grayling or vicinity. N. C. Cotabish, Lakewood, O. 6-29-3.

THE HOME OF THE SOUL.

In olden times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

WEIGHING AND MEASURING PUPILS NOT A FAD BUT HAS PRACTICAL VALUE.

Quite a furore has been aroused in Michigan, as elsewhere, by recent articles in The Outlook in which Mr. C. E. Taylor asserted that weighing and measuring school children and grading them physically on that basis was a delusion. Mr. Taylor asserted that some children are naturally underweight and some are naturally overweight. He claimed therefore that these tests had no value, and as a result much work in this line stood to be discarded.

It is of course true, declares the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, that some children are naturally underweight and some are naturally overweight and that hence the weight and height test is not an absolute index to good or bad health. But the tests have a tremendous value. The ideal way would be to have an adequate health examination of all school pupils, taking each individual case separately, but under present conditions that is not possible. There are very few schools where there is provision for such an examination, and weighing and measuring pupils is the next best thing for the present.

This system at least shows roughly which pupils need a physical examination most. The Detroit Department of health thinks that about ten per cent would fall in this group, and the emphasis of the school physician can then be concentrated on them.

The system is inadequate, but it is better than nothing. What all persons who are interested in the health of the coming generation should work for is an adequate system of medical examination in the schools. But till that comes, the other test has great practical value.

ONE DOLLAR SAVED REPRESENTS TEN DOLLARS EARNED.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.

See the latest line of wedding invitations and announcements, at the Avalanche office.

WANTS

Advertisements will be accepted under this heading at the rate of 5 cents per line. No adv. taken for less than 25 cts. There are about six words to the line. SEND MONEY WITH ORDER.

WANTED—TWO EXPERIENCED waitresses. Good, homelike conditions. Board and room. Good pay. Apply in person, Otsego Lake Summer Resort. Compton & Charnoske—Otsego Lake.

FOUND—AUTO TIRE AND RIM. Owner may have same by proving property and paying for this ad. Inquire at Avalanche office. 7-13-3.

SOME HOUSEHOLD GOODS FOR sale. Call on Mrs. James Jorgenson, after six o'clock in the evening. 7-13-2.

LOST—A BROWN BILL-FOLD containing a sum of money, Sunday. Reward. A. H. Maxson, Phone 912, at Holger Schmidt's.

STRAYED TO MY PLACE, A BAY horse colt, 2 years old, with white star in forehead, and wearing a halter. May be found at the Jens Eliersen farm near the cemetery, Grayling. 7-13-3.

LOST—POCKETBOOK NEAR OR in Michigan Central R. R. station, early Sunday morning. Return to Frank Sales and receive reward. P. E. Behards, M. D. 7-13-1.

FOR SALE—HOUSE WITH 8 LOTS. Fine location, furnace, bath, electric lights, sewer. Large garage. A fine place. Terms upon application. Inquire of Reel & Schumann, Real Estate dealers, or Phone 602 or 1112.

FOR SALE—FARM OF 320 ACRES. Good house; fine basement barn; excellent water; good sandy loam land; orchard and other fruit; 100 acres under cultivation; good pasture; some timber; good gravel pit; on trunk line highway; stock, farm implements, etc. Owner wishes to retire. For particulars and terms inquire of Reel & Schumann, Real Estate, Grayling, Mich. Phones 602 or 1112. 7-13-2.

WORK WANTED—EITHER HOTEL or restaurant work. Phone 1021 and ask for Mrs. Henry Arntz.

STRAYED TO MY PLACE IN BEAVER Creek Township, a yearling heifer. Owner will please call at my farm and prove property and pay costs of salvage. Theodore Christofferson. 7-6-3.

FOR RENT—ALLANDALE Cottage at Lake Margrethe. Inquire of Mrs. A. Kraus.

FOUND—LODGE EMBLEM, JUNE 22. Owner may have same by proving property. Address or call the Avalanche office. 7-13-2.

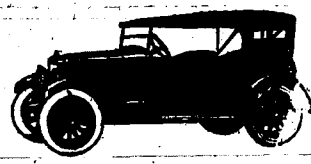

THREE FRESH MILCH COWS FOR sale. Inquire of Frank Barber, Rosecommon, Mich. R. R. 1 Bx 115.

LOST—AUTO JACK AND TOOLS somewhere between Grayling and the Burton Farm in Beaver Creek, Thursday June 15. Reward offered for their return. J. C. Burton.

LOST—SATURDAY NIGHT SOMEWHERE on the streets, a gray fox neck fur. Kindly return to Miss Arveley Tetts and receive reward.

AGENTS WANTED!

Sell Hardy Nursery Stock and earn $30.00 to 50.00 weekly with part expenses. We show you how. Supplies. Free. Easy work for young and old. Write HAWKS NURSERY CO. 7-13-2. Wauwatosa, Wis.

Overland is one of the most popular cars in America today and stands more firmly entrenched than ever in popular favor.

At $550, the Overland offers greater automobile value for the money than any other car.

A springbase of 130 inches, with big car-riding comfort, modern 3-speed forward and reverse sliding gear transmission, a safe braking system with a square inch of braking surface to every 15 pounds of weight, all-steel touring body with baked-on lustrous finish and many other exclusive Overland features.

Today's Overland at $550

M. A. ATKINSON, Dealer.
GRAYLING, MICH.

At Last!

A Face Powder that really stays on.

NYLOTIS

Face Powder DeLuxe

spreads evenly on the face and possesses those adhering qualities so much desired in a face powder.

It is pleasantly perfumed. Flush White Brunette

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

To-NIGHT Tomorrow Night

NR 3

BILIOUSNESS—SICK HEADACHE, call for an NR Tablet, (a vegetable special) to tone and strengthen the organs of digestion and elimination. Improves Appetite, Relieves Constipation.

Get a 25 Box of NR Tablets. Used for over 50 years. Druggist.

Chips off the Old Block

NR JUNIORS—Little NRs. One-third the regular dose. Made of same ingredients, then candy coated. For children and adults.

A. M. LEWIS, Druggist.

Subscribe for the Avalanche.

Earl motor cars are built in three Earl plants

Because the Earl is manufactured—not merely assembled—in three big Earl plants at Jackson, Michigan, its visible beauty, comfort and road performance cannot be matched in any other car of its wheel base or price. Its economy is unusual for a motor car of any size.

Only one manufacturing profit goes into its cost. That's why you are able to buy such beauty and comfort, with the Earl's ability to go anywhere your road leads, at the notably low price of $1095.

The Earl factory builds into every Earl the endurance and quality which make its economy, riding ease and performance so remarkable.

Earl values are outstanding. You can check them for yourself today. Come in and study this great car feature by feature, from drum-type head and cowl lamps to 56-inch rear springs. Let us give you a demonstration. Take the wheel yourself. Make all your own tests.

EARL MOTOR CARS

BETTER LOOKING—BETTER BUILT

OLAF SORENSON & SONS

Distributors for Crawford, Kalkaska, Antrim and Otsego Counties.

Grayling, Michigan.

TOLING CAR.....$1095
CUSTOM ROADSTER 1485

EARL MOTORS, INC.

BROUGHAM.....$1795
SEDAN.....1795

Price L. & L. Jackson

JACKSON, MICH.

KEEP the BUGS AWAY From Your Home and Business

REX FLY TOX

will get them. Fatal to flies and other insects. You can buy this at our store in

PINTS FOR 75c

and

HALF PINTS FOR 50c

We also have El Vampiro 3 for 25c. Insect powder and Black Flag.

LOCAL NEWS

THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1922.

Full line of Souvenir goods at the Gift Shop.

Miss Diarmid's candies, famed for freshness. Central Drug Store.

Sergeant Leo Kenefick of Lansing is spending his vacation at Lake Margrethe.

Mrs. Wilson Barnes and daughter, of Flint are visiting her mother Mrs. David White.

A. B. Root of Manton is visiting at the home of his daughter Mrs. Chas. Lytle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Burrows are entertaining the former's mother Mrs. Burrows of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gillett left Tuesday morning for a week's vacation in Bay City, Leslie and Muskegon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Cameron of Pottsville, former Grayling residents are visiting relatives in Frederic.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Kraus and Mrs. G. A. Kraus and Miss Augusta Kraus motored to Traverse City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith of Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Smith of Detroit, and a party of friends from Brighton are resorting at Houghton Lake.

Mrs. Hans Petersen has returned home from an extended visit with relatives in Oxford, Detroit and other places.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. Bremer at Mercy Hospital Saturday. The little girl has been named Elaine.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sorenson are happy over the arrival of a son at their home Tuesday morning. The little boy weighed 9 1/2 pounds.

G. A. Kraus who has been visiting his family at the home of his mother Mrs. A. Kraus for a few days returned to Chicago Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Michelson and children John and Jean of Detroit have arrived at their summer home at Lake Margrethe for the season.

Have your prescriptions filled at the Central Drug Store.

See the pretty things in leather Souvenirs at the Gift Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Randall and Thomas A. Adams motored from Bay City and spent a few days guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Robin.

The social meeting of the Ladies National League will be held at the home of Mrs. Mae Ketzbeck next Thursday, July 20. Chrm. Com.

Miss Margaret Joseph returned Friday from Milwaukee, where she has been visiting her sister Mrs. Harry Fredman and family, since school closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Cook of Jackson spent the week-end with Mr. and R. M. Robin on their way to their cottage at Grandview for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Clark, Miss Kathryn Clark and Mrs. George N. Olson and daughter Georgiana left for Orion Saturday to visit relatives for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Game enjoyed a motor trip to Marion Sunday spending the day with the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson.

Through the compliments of Marius Hanson the Board of Trade will enjoy the pleasures of a Radio-Phone which will be installed in their club rooms soon.

Paul Ziebell is taking a week's vacation from his duties at the Salling Hanson Co. warehouse and with his family left Sunday on a motor trip to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigwald Hanson and children are enjoying a week's vacation with the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Struble at Shepherd. They motored through.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Graham of Detroit are at Lake Margrethe for a several weeks sojourn, and also to visit Mrs. Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Hanson.

Mrs. Angus McPhee, who has been in ill-health for some time left Tuesday afternoon for Detroit to receive medical treatment, having been advised to consult a specialist.

Mrs. Constance Johnson of Omaha, Nebraska, arrived the latter part of the week to look after her business interests in and around Grayling. She will remain for the summer.

Call at the Gift Shop for souvenirs, marked "Grayling on the Ausable."

Mrs. John Harrison is seriously ill with typhoid fever at Mercy Hospital.

Dyes: Diamond, Dyala, Rit and Colorite. Central Drug Store.

Charles Neal of Rose City is visiting at the home of his son Sherman Neal.

Laura Jean Bowman of Detroit is a guest of her sister Mrs. Benton Jorgenson.

Miss Nina Giffin of Waterford is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Robert Giffin for a few days.

Master Donald Emery of Roscommon is a guest of Lawrence Cooper this week.

Waldemar Olson and family of East Jordan are visiting at the home of N. P. Olson and family.

Andrew Hart returned Monday from a visit with his parents in Howell. He also visited in Detroit.

Miss Agnes Amborski of Gaylord visited her sister Miss Angela Amborski the last of the week.

A. W. Morrow and daughter Yonnie Jean returned Monday from Madison, Wisconsin, after a ten days stay.

Ward Conning of Traverse City and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rice of Mio visited Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Conning Sunday.

Miss Fern Davis is improving slowly from an attack of diphtheria. She is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie Davis.

William Blaine left Monday for a two months visit in Gladwin, Grand Rapids and in cities of the Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Louis Johnson and children have returned from a three weeks visit in Detroit the guests of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Earl Case and three children of Detroit are visiting at the home of her mother Mrs. F. A. Eckenfels for several weeks.

Little Bobbie Gates of Clare is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wingard. Mr. and Mrs. Gates spent Sunday here motoring over.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fehr and daughter Margaret returned Wednesday from a motor trip to St. Johns where they visited relatives for a week.

The ladies of the Aid Society of the Michelson Memorial church enjoyed a fine pot luck dinner at the cottage Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Michelson Friday afternoon.

Charles Lytle made a business trip to Detroit Friday returning Saturday. He expects to return to Detroit in a short time to resume work at the Ford factory where he is employed.

Mrs. Frank Smith of West Branch spent the latter part of the week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Tetu, coming up by motor Wednesday accompanied by her son George Smith.

Oscar Smith accompanied by his mother Mrs. Cromover, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and Miss Beatrice Phares enjoyed a motor trip to Detroit. They returned home Thursday.

Miss Margaret Nelson, assistant book-keeper at the Bank of Grayling is enjoying a couple of weeks vacation from her duties. She left Wednesday to spend it among friends in Ionia and other places.

Miss Ula Mae Shier who has been teaching in Cleveland, Ohio, arrived Thursday and is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McCullough. Miss Shier was a former teacher in the Grayling schools.

Einer Jorgenson has resigned his position as deliveryman at the Conning grocery and expects to leave soon for Milwaukee to enter an electrical appliance school. Phil Quigley is assisting in the Conning grocery.

At a meeting of the electors of South Branch township held recently the proposition to organize the township into a unit school district was carried by a small majority. The election of a board of trustees took place last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kunze and family of Cadillac were guests of the former's uncle O. P. Schumann and family Sunday. They were accompanied by Miss Francis Schumann of South Bend, who is remaining for a visit with her cousin Miss Eleanor Schumann.

The State Fish car was at River view last week Monday with a carload of rainbow trout for the Manistee river. The car came to Grayling Wednesday and proceeded to Cheboygan, for a carload of bass to be taken to some lake in the southern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Behlke, daughter Helen Jane and Nancy Lee, of Bay City, and Mrs. Behlke's sister Mrs. J. B. McKillican and son Kieth of Escanaba are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lewis, at their cottage at Lake Margrethe. They expect to be here for the remainder of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Havens and daughter Miss Agnes, have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. G. Laing, daughter Katherine and son Mac and Mrs. Fred McDonald of Bay City, and the party are spending a couple of weeks at the Bates cottage at Lake Margrethe. The Laings and Mrs. McDonald, the latter who was a former resident of Grayling, motored here from Bay City, arriving Saturday.

An alarm of fire was sounded at 8:50 Monday morning, and it was found to be the water tank near the M. & N. E. depot, that had evidently been struck by lightning, as a bad electrical storm raged in this section during Sunday night. Last Wednesday afternoon the department was summoned to quench a small blaze near the bark pile in the Salling Hanson Co. mill yard, that could not be reached with the Company's hose.

A good game of base ball is scheduled for next Sunday when the fast Manistee team will meet Grayling on the local diamond. An excursion train from Manistee will bring the team and a big crowd of rooters to Grayling. Show you're with the home team by getting out to the game and giving them your support. Morrow has returned and we are back in the game, and it is probable that Smith will be back in the line-up. It is doubtful whether Reynolds will be able to play or not. However a good game may be looked for. The game starts at 8:00 sharp.

Don't wait until your horse is stolen before locking the barn door. Protect your horse by taking Tanlac. A. J. Lewis, druggist.

Special July Savings

Special Showing of

Dark and Light Voiles and Summer Lawns

Regular 50 to 75c, at 29c a yard

Vacation Days are here and we are showing a new line of

Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases

All at special low prices.

75c Voiles at . . . 59c
50c Voiles at . . . 39c

Men's Caps Reduced

$2.50 Caps, now . . . $2.00
2.00 Caps, now . . . 1.50
1.50 Caps, now . . . 1.00
One lot Men's Caps, now . . . 39c

1/4 off on all
Men's Panama and Straw
Straw Hats--1/4 off

Grayling Mercantile Company

The Quality Store.

Florsheim Shoes

One of the best shoes for men, now selling for $7.50

ARROW SHIRTS

For every man and every occasion we carry the complete line

MEN—Hundreds of Dress Shirts in banded or collar styles—latest styles and patterns at 1/4 off.

Whitman's famous candies, fresh every week. Central Drug Store.

James Reynolds, Jr., William Laurant, Almer Smith and Don Reynolds drove to Charlevoix Sunday, "Babe" Laurant going over to pitch for Mancelona against Charlevoix. The latter team won the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pillsbury and family returned to their home in Lansing Monday after visiting the former's brother, Edward Cooper and family. Enroute they stopped at West Branch for a short visit with friends.

The marriage of Mr. William A. Wingard, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wingard of this city, to Miss Lucille Phyllis Cheney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Cheney of Lansing will occur at the latter place on Monday, July 31st.

Mrs. Orson Corwin and son Emerson left last night to spend the summer visiting her parents, who reside on a farm in Northville. Her son Jay is also there for the summer vacation, and they will return together when school opens.

Earle Hewitt has resigned his position at the Simpson grocery and is assisting as a clerk at the Shoppenapen Cafe. Jensen Ziebell is the new deliveryman at the Simpson grocery and Ernest Duval is filling Mr. Hewitt's place as clerk.

Mrs. Anna Inaley returned Tuesday to Detroit after a several weeks' stay at her cottage at Lake Margrethe. Miss Margaret and Stanley and Maria will leave Saturday for their home motoring through. They also have been here several weeks.

Mrs. John Love of Benvar Creek township returned Monday from Owosso where she had been for several weeks because of the illness of her mother. Her mother came back with her and will remain here this summer.—Roscommon Herald-News.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rangan have as their guests, the former's mother, Mrs. J. M. Rangan, and granddaughter Miss Eileen Skinner of Royal Oak, and Mrs. Guy Peterson of Johannesburg. Last week they enjoyed a visit from Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Johnston, son Louis and daughter Irene of Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl England are entertaining several guests at their cottage at Lake Margrethe. Among them are Miss Ruth Harris of Bangor, Maine; Mrs. Anderson, Edwin Anderson, Mrs. Frank Lent of Saginaw and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Billings and son Bradford, Mrs. Amanda Dailey, Mr. Louis Snogren of Bay City.

Miss Matilda Cook is home from Detroit for a couple of weeks visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cook. She arrived last Wednesday and was accompanied by her cousin Mr. Edwin Borno, also of Detroit, who is visiting at the Cook home. Mrs. Cook who was in Detroit for several weeks has also returned home.

Elmer Christenson and wife of Detroit, the former, who was formerly employed in the Salling Hanson Co. offices will arrive soon to spend three weeks at the Bates cottage at Lake Margrethe, during the latter part of July and fore part of August. Mr. Christenson is with the public accounting firm, Price, Waterhouse & Co. with offices in Detroit and New York.

Think of it! In a few years the fame of Tanlac has gone round the world. The reason is merit alone. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

Try our want ad. column.

Mr. and Mrs. John Golden of Lewiston visited in Grayling Monday.

Mrs. John Riker of Bay City has been a guest of Mrs. Gene Ayotte.

Base ball next Sunday, Manistee vs. Grayling. Game called at 3:00 sharp.

Miss Frieda Barber of Belding arrived Thursday to visit her brother Roy Barber and family.

Ellis and Charles Daugherty are visiting at the home of relatives in Au Gres for the summer.

Mrs. Allyn Kidston and daughter Ada returned Thursday from a couple of weeks visit in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Dunham and family returned Saturday from a visit with relatives in Standish.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Netters of Gonova, Ill., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Algot Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus McCauley are spending a couple of weeks in Standish visiting Mr. McCauley's parents.

A. W. Parker and family, who reside on the Pomeroy property as caretakers, are enjoying a new Chevrolet car.

Mr. and Mrs. John Billings and son Guy motored to Au Gres Thursday called there by the death of a relative.

Misses Ruby Dyer, Gladys Clark and Mildred Sherman returned home Saturday from a visit with friends in West Branch.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Bethards of Toledo, Ohio, have been entertaining a party of friends from Toledo the past week, at their cottage Buck-eye Frog at Lake Margrethe. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Humphrey, returned Saturday night to their home after a week spent here. At present they have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Randolph, also of Toledo. The Bethards and Randolphs will leave for Toledo at the end of this week.

Mrs. Hans L. Peterson entertained the Nona Such "500" club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Clyde Peterson, who was a guest of the club held the highest score and Mrs. Benton Jorgenson received consolation. Last Friday afternoon Mesdames Carl Doroh and Walter Doroh were hostesses to the club at the home of the former.

Mrs. Earl Case of Detroit and Mrs. Ambrose McClain were guests of the club. Mrs. McClain winning first prize and Mrs. Walter Nadieu consolation. Both afternoons were enjoyable ones for the club.

Miss Anna Nelson, stenographer for Salling Hanson Company, and Miss Colette Smith, ticket agent for the M. C. left Saturday night for Detroit, and Sunday morning took the boat in Detroit for Buffalo, sailing on the Lawrence river. Leaving Buffalo, the young ladies will go to Kitchener, Ontario to visit relatives of Miss Smith. They expect to be gone three weeks and will visit New York, Washington, D. C. and Vineland, New Jersey, to be guests at the latter place of Miss Helen Parr, a former teacher of music and drawing in the Grayling schools. Miss Margaret Joseph is filling Miss Nelson's place in the Salling Hanson Co. offices, and Mrs. Frank Tetu is filling the position of her sister in the M. C. ticket office.

Think of it! In a few years the fame of Tanlac has gone round the world. The reason is merit alone. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

Mrs. P. G. Zalsman is in Detroit visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. N. Milks. Mr. Zalsman left Wednesday night, and both will return Friday morning.

Don't forget Village taxes are now due, and can be paid any day during business hours at Bank of Grayling. All taxes paid during month of July will be subject to 1 per cent collection fee and from August 1st to August 15th at 4 per cent.—Mr. Hanson, Treas. 7-13-3.

A live stork was captured at Arbutus Beach, Otsego Lake Thursday morning by a Bay City man, who was out for his morning plunge in the Lake. This bird is now in exhibition at the beach and will be one of the animals that will eventually make up the zoo that is to be established at this resort.

Miss Fern Armstrong is enjoying a week's vacation from her duties at the Sorenson Bros. store. She spent the week-end in Bay City, visiting her friend Mrs. Harlan Sweeney, who has been with her parents.

Mrs. Rolla Brink since the middle of May, Mrs. Sweeney returned Monday morning to her home in Boston.

Many times Tanlac has done what was thought to be impossible. It's worth your trial. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

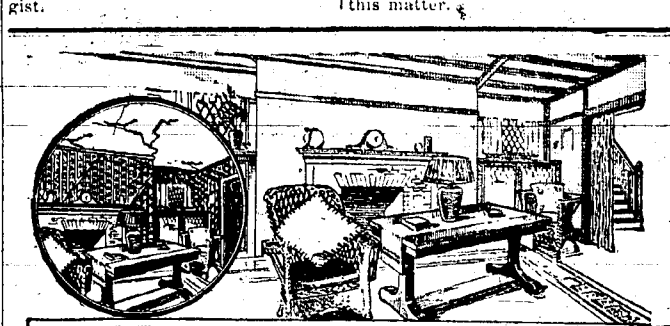

N. P. Olson is in Saginaw on business.

Mrs. S. D. Dunham is entertaining her mother, Mrs. O. B. Gibson, Miss Mildred and Mr. Roy Gibson, all of Detroit. They arrived Monday.

Sunday school is being held in the Primary Department at the Michelson Memorial church every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. until the pastor returns. And then the usual hour will be resumed July 23rd. There will be a special treat for the boys and girls who attend next Sunday. Members of the other departments of the school are welcome.

Through the generosity of R. D. Conning, his grove located at the end of Michigan avenue, sometimes called Lee's grove, has been placed at the service of the public for a free camping ground for tourists. This is a very pretty grove with the East Branch river running thru it, is conveniently located and a charming spot.

The Board of Trade will have it nicely trimmed up, put in well and pump, lawns, built truck ovens for the campers and in general make it comfortable for any who desire to pitch their tent in that place. And it will be available for picnics, etc. The business men of Grayling surely appreciate the generosity of Mr. Conning in this matter.

"You'd never know it was the same room"

"We think our living room is splendid since we Upsonized the walls and ceiling. Just notice the attractive panels! The rich shade of paint on the side walls is washable, easy to keep clean."

"You should have seen it before we Upsonized! Plaster on walls and ceilings cracked and unsightly—paper torn—just a dingy interior! Replastering meant mess and fuss and dirt for weeks—then a temporary job for replastered surfaces always show lath shadows."

"So we decided on Upson PROCESSED BOARD. It went on so quickly—without any mess. It is the nearest perfect lining for walls and ceilings."

If you have a cracked ceiling, Upsonize it. You'll see why there has been less than one complaint to every 3,000,000 feet sold and used. Come in and let us tell you about this remarkable quality product.

UPSON BOARD

SORENSEN BROS.

The Home of Dependable Furniture.

Vulcanizing

We can repair your Cords

We Sell

Goodyear,
Firestone and Oldfield

Tires

Hans R. Nelson
South Side.

Use the Delco System

for your lighting and power.

A size for every Home $250 and Up.

Geo. Burke, Agent, Grayling

DELCO-LIGHT COMPANY, DAYTON, O.

There's a Satisfied User near you

THE INDIAN DRUM

By William MacHarg and Edwin Balmer

Copyright by Edwin Balmer

CHAPTER XIII.

"The Owner of the Watch," she exclaimed, "you seemed still confused. Oh, no, of course they couldn't have done that! They've hardly got my letter yet."

"Your letter?" Alan asked.

"I wrote to Blue Rapids," she explained. "Some things came to me. Some things of Uncle Benny's which were meant for you instead of me."

"You mean you've heard from him?"

"No—not that."

"What things, Miss Sherill?"

"A watch of his, some coins and a ring." She did not explain the significance of these things, and he could not tell from her mere enumeration of them and without seeing them that they furnished proof that his father was dead. She could not inform him of that, she felt, just here and now.

"I'll tell you about that later. You were coming to Harbor Point to see us?"

"Yes, I was. I'm afraid not. I got as near as this to you because there is a man—an Indian—I have to see."

"An Indian? What is his name? You see, I know quite a lot of them."

"To Papa."

"She shook her head. 'No, I don't know him.'"

"She found a spot where the moss was covered with dry pine needles and sat down upon the ground."

"Sit down," she invited. "I want you to tell me what you have been doing."

"I've been on the boats. He dropped down upon the moss beside her. 'Until yesterday I was a not very highly honored member of the crew of the package freighter Osceola. I left her at Frankfort and came up here.'"

"Is Wassaquam with you?"

"He wasn't on the Osceola; but he was with me at first. Now, I believe, he has gone back to his own people—to Middle Village."

"You mean you've been looking for Mr. Corvet in that way?"

"Not exactly that. He hesitated, but he could see in reason for not telling what he had been doing. He had not so much hidden from her and her father, what he had found in Benjamin Corvet's house; rather, he had refrained from mentioning it in his notes to them when he left Chicago because he had thought that the lists would lead to an immediate explanation; they had not led to that, but only to a suggestion, indefinite yet. He had known that if his search finally developed nothing more than it had, he must at last consult Sherill and Mr. Sherill's aid."

"We found some writing, Miss Sherill," he said, "in the house on Astor street that night after Luke came."

"What writing?"

"He took the lists from his pocket and showed them to her. She separated and looked through the sheets and read the names written in the same hand that had written the directions upon the slip of paper that came to her four days before, with the things from Uncle Benny's pockets."

"My father had kept these very secret," he explained. "He had then hidden Wassaquam knew where they were, and that night after Luke was dead and you had gone home, he gave them to me."

"After I had gone home? Henry went back to see you that night; he

"Nothing definite at all. None of them knew my father."

"He said he was going back, and afterward I asked him, and he told me he had seen you again. Did you show him these?"

"He saw them—yes."

"He was there when Wassaquam showed you where they were?"

"Yes."

"A little line deepened between her brows, and she sat thoughtful."

"So you have been going about seeing these people," she said. "What have you found out?"

"Nothing definite at all. None of them knew my father; they were only amazed to find that anyone in Chicago had known their names."

"In her feeling for him, she had laid her hand upon his arm; now her fingers tightened to sudden tenderness."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Oh, it is not definite yet—not clear." She felt the bitterness in his tone. "They have not any of them been able to make it wholly clear to me. It is like a record that has been blurred. These original names must have been written down by my father many years ago—many, most of those people, I think, are dead; some are nearly forgotten. The only thing that is fully plain is that in every case my inquiries have led me to those who have lost one, and sometimes more than one relative upon the lakes."

Constance thrilled to a vague horror; it was not anything to which she could give definite reason. His tone quivered as much as what he said was his cause. His experience plainly had been turning him to bitterness against his father; and he did not know with certainty yet that his father was dead.

"You'll lunch with us, of course," she said to Alan, "and then go back with us to Harbor Point. It's a day's journey around the two bays; but we've a boat here."

"He assented, and they went down to the water where the white and brown power yacht, with long, graceful lines, lay prominently in the sunlight. A little boat took them out over the shimmering, smooth surface to the ship; swells from a faraway freighter swept under the beautiful, burnished craft, causing it to roll lazily as they boarded it. A party of nearly a dozen men and girls with an older woman chaperoning them, lounged under the shade of an awning over the after deck; they greeted her gaily and looked curiously at Alan as she introduced him.

"Have you worked on any of our boats?" she asked him, after luncheon had been finished, and the anchor of the ship had been raised.

A queer expression came upon his face. "I've thought it best not to do that," Miss Sherill, he replied.

"Did not know why the next moment she should think of Henry."

The yacht was pushing swiftly, smoothly, with hardly a hum from its motors, north along the shore. He watched intently the rolling, wooded hills and the ragged little bays and inlets. His work and his investigations had not brought him to the neighborhood before; but she found that she did not have to name the places to him; he knew them from the charts.

"Grand Traverse light," he said to her as a white tower showed upon their left. Then, leaving the shore, they pushed out across the wide mouth of the Saginaw bay toward Little Traverse.

"He knew more about it as they approached it."

"It is up there, isn't it?" he asked, pointing, "what they hear the drum?"

"Yes, how did you know the place?"

"I don't know it exactly; I want you to show me."

"She pointed out to him the rocky, dark, primeval, blue in its contrast with the lighter green of the trees about it and the glistering white of the shoreline and of the more distant and bluish, the steamed forward, staring at it, until the changed course of the yacht, as it swung about toward the entrance to the bay, obscured it."

"Seeing the ships made me feel that I belonged here on the lakes," he recalled her. "I have felt something—not recognition exactly, but something that was like the beginning of recognition—many times this summer when I saw certain places. It's like one of those dreams, you know, in which you are conscious of having had the same dream before. I feel that I ought to know this place."

They landed only a few hundred yards from the cottage. After bidding good-bye to her friends, they went up to it together through the trees. There was a small sun room, rather shut off from the rest of the house, to which she led him. Leaving him there, she ran upstairs to get the things.

She halted an instant beside the door, with the box in her hands, before she went back to him, thinking now to prepare him against the significance of these relics of his father. She need not prepare him against the mere fact of his father's death; he had been beginning to believe that already; but these things must have far more meaning for him than merely that. She went in and put the box down upon the card table.

"The muffer in the box was your father's," she told him. "He had it on the day he disappeared. The other things," her voice choked a little, "are the things he must have had in his pockets. They've been lying in water and sand."

He gazed at her. "I understand," he said after an instant. "You mean that they prove his death?"

She assented gently, without speaking. As he approached the box, she drew back from it and slipped away into the next room. She walked up and down there, pressing her hands together. He must be looking at the things now, unruffled the muffer.

What would he be feeling as he saw them? Would he be glad, with that same gladness which had mingled with her own sorrow over Uncle Benny, that his father was gone—gone from his guilt and his fear and his disgrace? Or would he resent that death which thus left everything unexplained to him? He would be looking at the ring. That, at least, must bring more joy than grief to him. He would recognize that it must be his mother's wedding ring; if it told him that his mother must be dead, it would tell him that she had been married, or had believed that she was married!

She suddenly heard him calling her. "Miss Sherill!" his voice had a sharp note of excitement.

She hurried toward the sun room. She looked in him through the doorway, leaning over the card table with the things spread out upon its top in front of him.

"Yes."

"He straightened; he was very pale. 'Would you mind my father had in his pocket all these things more than twenty years ago? It is all intended for your sake; for I'm thinking no man would get himself up in any of this duff!—if one may help him to a word. That's my father. If true to her old Edenic form, would retort!

of the coming now herself; the markings were etched, nearly gone in some instances, but in every case enough remained to make plain the date. 'Eighteen-ninety—1894—1880,' she made them out. Her voice husked, queerly. 'What does it mean?' she whispered.

He turned over and re-examined the articles with hands suddenly steady. 'There are two sets of things here,' he concluded. 'The muffer and paper of directions—they belonged to my father. The other things—I don't know. It isn't six months or less than six months that they've lain in sand and water to become worn like this; it's twenty years. My father can't have had these things; they were somewhere else, or some one else had them. He wrote this directions to that person—after June twelfth, he said, so it was before June twelfth he wrote it. But we can't tell how long before. It might have been in February, when he disappeared; it might have been any time after that. But if the directions were written so long ago, why weren't the things sent to you before this? Did the person have the things then? Or was it the instructions to send them that he didn't have? Or, if he had the instructions, was he waiting to receive word when they were to be sent? You thought these things proved my father was dead. I think they prove he is alive! Oh, we must think this out!"

He paced up and down the room, she sank into a chair, watching him. The first thing that he must do, he said, suddenly, "is to find out about the watch. What is the phone number of the telegraph office?"

She told him, and he went out to the telephone; she sprang up to follow him, but checked herself and merely waited until he came back.

"He wired to Buffalo," he announced. "The Merchants' exchange, if it is still in existence, must have a record of the presentation of the watch."

"Then you'll stay here with us until an answer comes?"

"If I get a reply by tomorrow night, I'll wait till then. If not, I'll ask you to forward it to me. I must see about the trains and get back to Frankfort. I can cross by boat from there to Manitowish—that will be quickest. We must begin here, by trying to find out who sent the package."

She helped him put the muffer and paper articles into the box, she noted that the wedding ring was no longer with them. He had taken that, then; it had meant to him all that she had known it must mean.

In the morning she was up very early; but Alan, the servants told her, had been before she had and had gone out. The morning after the first night, she was still. She slipped a sweater on and went out on the veranda, looking about for him. An indescribable buzz shrouded the hills and the bay; in it she heard a ship's bell strike twice, then another struck twice—then another—and another—and another. The haze thinned as the sun grew warmer, showing the placid water of the bay on which the ships stood double. She saw Alan returning, and knowing from the direction from which he came that he must have been to the telegraph office, she ran to meet him.

"Was there an answer?" she inquired eagerly.

He took a yellow telegraph sheet from his pocket and held it for her to read.

"Watch presented Captain Caleb Stafford, master of propeller freighter Marvin Halch for rescue of crew and passengers of sinking steamer Winnebago off Long Point, Lake Erie."

She was breathing quickly in her excitement. "Caleb Stafford!" she exclaimed. "Why, that was Captain Stafford of Stafford and Ramsdell! They owned the Miwaka!"

"Yes," Alan said.

A great change had come over him since last night; he was under a delusion strong that he seemed surely to have spoken last night master him—a foreign, exultant impulse it was, which he fought to keep down.

"What is it, Alan?" she asked.

"What is it about the Miwaka? You said you'd found some reference to it in Uncle Benny's house. What was it? What did you find there?"

"The man—Alan swallowed and stammered himself and repeated—"the man I met in the house that night mentioned it. He seemed to think it was a ghost that had haunted Mr. Corvet—the ghost from the Miwaka; at least he shouted out to me that I couldn't save the Miwaka!"

"Save the Miwaka! What do you mean, Alan? The Miwaka was lost with all her people—officers and crew—no one knows how or where?"

"All except the one for whom the Drum didn't beat!"

"What's that? Blood trickled in her cheeks. 'What do you mean, Alan?' 'I don't know yet; but I think I'll soon find out.'"

"You can tell me more now."

"Surely you can. I must know. I have the right to know. Yesterday, even before you found out about this, you knew things you weren't telling me—things about the people you'd been seeing. They'd all lost people on the lakes, you said; but you found out more than that."

"They'd all lost people on the Miwaka!" he said. "All who could tell me where their people were lost; a few were like Jo Papa we saw yesterday, who knew only the year his father was lost; but the time always was the time that the Miwaka disappeared!"

"Disappeared?" she repeated. "Her cheeks were prickling cold. What did he know, what could any one know of the Miwaka, the ship of which nothing ever was heard except the beating of the Indian Drum? She tried to make him say more; but he looked away now down to the lake."

"The Chippewa must have come in early this morning," he said. "She's lying in the harbor. I saw her on my way to the telegraph office. If Mr. Shearman has come back with her, tell him I'm sorry I can't wait to see him. 'When are you going?'"

"She offered to drive him to Petoskey, but he already had arranged for a man to take him to the train."

"She went to her room after he was gone and spread out again on her bed the things she had found."

"She had made Alan promise to write her, if he was not to return, regarding what he learned; and a letter came to her on the fourth day from him in Manitowish. The post office employees had found it, she said, of the person who had mailed the package; it simply had been dropped by some one into the receptacle for outgoing packages of that sort. Alan, however, was continuing his inquiries."

"She went to him in reply to the lack of anything more important to tell him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

A new idea had seized Constance. Captain Caleb Stafford was missing during the last of the summer with him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

"Save the Miwaka! What Do You Mean, Alan?"

the watch, now the watch of Captain Stafford of the Miwaka—with the knife and coins of more than twenty years ago which came with it. The meaning of them now was all changed; she felt that; but what the new meaning might be could not yet come to her. Something of it had come to Alan; that, undoubtedly, was what had so greatly stirred him; but she could not yet reassess her ideas. Yet a few facts had become plain.

A maid came to say that Mr. Shearman had come up from his boat for breakfast with her and was downstairs. She went down to find Henry lounging in one of the great wicker chairs in the living room. He arose and came toward her quickly; but she halted before he could seize her.

"What's wrong, dear?"

"Alan! Conrad has been here, Henry."

"He has? How was that?"

"She told him while he watched her intensely. 'He wired to Buffalo about the watch. He got a reply which he brought to me half an hour ago.'"

"Yes?"

"The watch belonged to Captain Stafford who was lost with the Miwaka, Henry."

"He made no reply, but waited."

"You may not have known that it was his; I mean, you may not have known that it was he who rescued the people of the Winnebago, but you must have known that Uncle Benny didn't."

"Yes, I know that, Constance," he answered evenly.

"Then why did you let me think the watch was his and that he must be dead?"

"That's all the matter? You had thought he was dead. I believed it was better for you—for every one—to believe that."

"She drew a little away from him, with hands clasped behind her back, gazing intently at him. 'There was some writing found in Uncle Benny's house in Astor street—a list of names of relatives of people who had lost their lives upon the lake. Wassaquam knew where those things were. Alan

"Watch presented Captain Caleb Stafford, master of propeller freighter Marvin Halch for rescue of crew and passengers of sinking steamer Winnebago off Long Point, Lake Erie."

She was breathing quickly in her excitement. "Caleb Stafford!" she exclaimed. "Why, that was Captain Stafford of Stafford and Ramsdell! They owned the Miwaka!"

"Yes," Alan said.

A great change had come over him since last night; he was under a delusion strong that he seemed surely to have spoken last night master him—a foreign, exultant impulse it was, which he fought to keep down.

"What is it, Alan?" she asked.

"What is it about the Miwaka? You said you'd found some reference to it in Uncle Benny's house. What was it? What did you find there?"

"The man—Alan swallowed and stammered himself and repeated—"the man I met in the house that night mentioned it. He seemed to think it was a ghost that had haunted Mr. Corvet—the ghost from the Miwaka; at least he shouted out to me that I couldn't save the Miwaka!"

"Save the Miwaka! What do you mean, Alan? The Miwaka was lost with all her people—officers and crew—no one knows how or where?"

"All except the one for whom the Drum didn't beat!"

"What's that? Blood trickled in her cheeks. 'What do you mean, Alan?' 'I don't know yet; but I think I'll soon find out.'"

"You can tell me more now."

"Surely you can. I must know. I have the right to know. Yesterday, even before you found out about this, you knew things you weren't telling me—things about the people you'd been seeing. They'd all lost people on the lakes, you said; but you found out more than that."

"They'd all lost people on the Miwaka!" he said. "All who could tell me where their people were lost; a few were like Jo Papa we saw yesterday, who knew only the year his father was lost; but the time always was the time that the Miwaka disappeared!"

"Disappeared?" she repeated. "Her cheeks were prickling cold. What did he know, what could any one know of the Miwaka, the ship of which nothing ever was heard except the beating of the Indian Drum? She tried to make him say more; but he looked away now down to the lake."

"The Chippewa must have come in early this morning," he said. "She's lying in the harbor. I saw her on my way to the telegraph office. If Mr. Shearman has come back with her, tell him I'm sorry I can't wait to see him. 'When are you going?'"

"She offered to drive him to Petoskey, but he already had arranged for a man to take him to the train."

"She went to her room after he was gone and spread out again on her bed the things she had found."

"She had made Alan promise to write her, if he was not to return, regarding what he learned; and a letter came to her on the fourth day from him in Manitowish. The post office employees had found it, she said, of the person who had mailed the package; it simply had been dropped by some one into the receptacle for outgoing packages of that sort. Alan, however, was continuing his inquiries."

"She went to him in reply to the lack of anything more important to tell him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

A new idea had seized Constance. Captain Caleb Stafford was missing during the last of the summer with him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

"Save the Miwaka! What Do You Mean, Alan?"

the watch, now the watch of Captain Stafford of the Miwaka—with the knife and coins of more than twenty years ago which came with it. The meaning of them now was all changed; she felt that; but what the new meaning might be could not yet come to her. Something of it had come to Alan; that, undoubtedly, was what had so greatly stirred him; but she could not yet reassess her ideas. Yet a few facts had become plain.

A maid came to say that Mr. Shearman had come up from his boat for breakfast with her and was downstairs. She went down to find Henry lounging in one of the great wicker chairs in the living room. He arose and came toward her quickly; but she halted before he could seize her.

"What's wrong, dear?"

"Alan! Conrad has been here, Henry."

"He has? How was that?"

"She told him while he watched her intensely. 'He wired to Buffalo about the watch. He got a reply which he brought to me half an hour ago.'"

"Yes?"

"The watch belonged to Captain Stafford who was lost with the Miwaka, Henry."

"He made no reply, but waited."

"You may not have known that it was his; I mean, you may not have known that it was he who rescued the people of the Winnebago, but you must have known that Uncle Benny didn't."

"Yes, I know that, Constance," he answered evenly.

"Then why did you let me think the watch was his and that he must be dead?"

"That's all the matter? You had thought he was dead. I believed it was better for you—for every one—to believe that."

"She drew a little away from him, with hands clasped behind her back, gazing intently at him. 'There was some writing found in Uncle Benny's house in Astor street—a list of names of relatives of people who had lost their lives upon the lake. Wassaquam knew where those things were. Alan

"Watch presented Captain Caleb Stafford, master of propeller freighter Marvin Halch for rescue of crew and passengers of sinking steamer Winnebago off Long Point, Lake Erie."

She was breathing quickly in her excitement. "Caleb Stafford!" she exclaimed. "Why, that was Captain Stafford of Stafford and Ramsdell! They owned the Miwaka!"

"Yes," Alan said.

A great change had come over him since last night; he was under a delusion strong that he seemed surely to have spoken last night master him—a foreign, exultant impulse it was, which he fought to keep down.

"What is it, Alan?" she asked.

"What is it about the Miwaka? You said you'd found some reference to it in Uncle Benny's house. What was it? What did you find there?"

"The man—Alan swallowed and stammered himself and repeated—"the man I met in the house that night mentioned it. He seemed to think it was a ghost that had haunted Mr. Corvet—the ghost from the Miwaka; at least he shouted out to me that I couldn't save the Miwaka!"

"Save the Miwaka! What do you mean, Alan? The Miwaka was lost with all her people—officers and crew—no one knows how or where?"

"All except the one for whom the Drum didn't beat!"

"What's that? Blood trickled in her cheeks. 'What do you mean, Alan?' 'I don't know yet; but I think I'll soon find out.'"

"You can tell me more now."

"Surely you can. I must know. I have the right to know. Yesterday, even before you found out about this, you knew things you weren't telling me—things about the people you'd been seeing. They'd all lost people on the lakes, you said; but you found out more than that."

"They'd all lost people on the Miwaka!" he said. "All who could tell me where their people were lost; a few were like Jo Papa we saw yesterday, who knew only the year his father was lost; but the time always was the time that the Miwaka disappeared!"

"Disappeared?" she repeated. "Her cheeks were prickling cold. What did he know, what could any one know of the Miwaka, the ship of which nothing ever was heard except the beating of the Indian Drum? She tried to make him say more; but he looked away now down to the lake."

"The Chippewa must have come in early this morning," he said. "She's lying in the harbor. I saw her on my way to the telegraph office. If Mr. Shearman has come back with her, tell him I'm sorry I can't wait to see him. 'When are you going?'"

"She offered to drive him to Petoskey, but he already had arranged for a man to take him to the train."

"She went to her room after he was gone and spread out again on her bed the things she had found."

"She had made Alan promise to write her, if he was not to return, regarding what he learned; and a letter came to her on the fourth day from him in Manitowish. The post office employees had found it, she said, of the person who had mailed the package; it simply had been dropped by some one into the receptacle for outgoing packages of that sort. Alan, however, was continuing his inquiries."

"She went to him in reply to the lack of anything more important to tell him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

A new idea had seized Constance. Captain Caleb Stafford was missing during the last of the summer with him, she related some of her activities and inquired about his. After she had written him this twice, he replied, describing his life on the boats pleasantly and humorously; then, though she immediately replied, she did not hear from him again."

"Save the Miwaka! What Do You Mean, Alan?"

the watch, now the watch of Captain Stafford of the Miwaka—with the knife and coins of more than twenty years ago which came with it. The meaning of them now was all changed; she felt that; but what the new meaning might be could not yet come to her. Something of it had come to Alan; that, undoubtedly, was what had so greatly stirred him; but she could not yet reassess her ideas. Yet a few facts had become plain.

A maid came to say that Mr. Shearman had come up from his boat for breakfast with her and was downstairs. She went down to find Henry lounging in one of the great wicker chairs in the living room. He arose and came toward her quickly; but she halted before he could seize her.

"What's wrong, dear?"

"Alan! Conrad has been here, Henry."

"He has? How was that?"

"She told him while he watched her intensely. 'He wired to Buffalo about the watch. He got a reply which he brought to me half an hour ago.'"

"Yes?"

"The watch belonged to Captain Stafford who was lost with the Miwaka, Henry."

"He made no reply, but waited."

"You may not have known that it was his; I mean, you may not have known that it was he who rescued the people of the Winnebago, but you must have known that Uncle Benny didn't."

"Yes, I know that, Constance," he answered evenly.

"Then why did you let me think the watch was his and that he must be dead?"

"That's all the matter? You had thought he was dead. I believed it was better for you—for every one—to believe that."

"She drew a little away from him, with hands clasped behind her back, gazing intently at him. 'There was some writing found in Uncle Benny's house in Astor street—a list of names of relatives of people who had lost their lives upon the lake. Wassaquam knew where those things were. Alan

"Watch presented Captain Caleb Stafford, master of propeller freighter Marvin Halch for rescue of crew and passengers of sinking steamer Winnebago off Long Point, Lake Erie."

She was breathing quickly in her excitement. "Caleb Stafford!" she exclaimed. "Why, that was Captain Stafford of Stafford and Ramsdell! They owned the Miwaka!"

"Yes," Alan said.

A great change had come over him since last night; he was under a delusion strong that he seemed surely to have spoken last night master him—a foreign, exultant impulse it was, which he fought to keep down.

"What is it, Alan?" she asked.

"What is it about the Miwaka? You said you'd found some reference to it in Uncle Benny's house. What was it? What did you find there?"

"The man—Alan swallowed and stammered himself and repeated—"the man I met in the house that night mentioned it. He seemed to think it was a ghost that had haunted Mr. Corvet—the ghost from the Miwaka; at

ADAM AND EVE ON SHOPPING TRIP

Highly Imaginative Picture of Our First Parents Strolling Through a Department Store.

Let us imagine our scapegoat ancestors attempting an 11 o'clock stroll through a ten-story department store. Ellen Burpee Sherman writes in the North American Review.

Can we not hear the tense ejaculations of our first mother before the mountains of unknown things, wools, satins, silks, chailies, organdies and muslins, piled ceiling-high before her? Even Adam, who has a reputation as a humorist, must have been aghast at his Miltonic odds of superiority, and say for once in some dainty form of Edenic language, "Eve, dear, I'm certain I am out of soundings. I can find names easily enough for birds, beasts and fishes, but all this!" (with a gesture of meek helplessness) "is all intended for your sake; for I'm thinking no man would get himself up in any of this duff!—if one may help him to a word. That's my father. If true to her old Edenic form, would retort!

"But Adam, dear, you can't deny that it is all most tempting, and I am going to pick right away some of that soft, dainty stuff, the color of a sunrise. I'm sure it would be much prettier than fig leaves for a dress."

Ethel Mundell Ellison, the movie censor, said at a tea in Chicago: "Some of these movie people have liberal ideas of what the public will stand for. A movie producer read a scenario to me one day. He wanted my approval, you know, before he began to shoot. 'Run very through the film I interrupted him. 'Your heroine,' I said severely, 'is taking a swim in the river. A thief appears and begins to panhandle her clothes for money. The girl to protect her property, hurries to the water. Is that right?'"

"Quite right," said the producer. "But, then, I gasped. Is it possible that that girl has nothing on?"

"Oh, you see," said the producer, "the thief is covering her carefully with his revolver."

NEGRO'S MEMORY A PUZZLE

Of Limited Educational Attainments, Colored Man Has Wonderful Fund of Useful Information.

Jim Gilmore, a negro aged fifty-six, who lives in the town of Greenville, Tex., is said by scientists who have examined him, to possess one of the most remarkable memories known. With apparently a small amount of educational training Gilmore is able to quote any verse in the Bible suggested to him. He answers any questions pertaining to the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the late World war, giving dates of all outstanding historical events. He can name every station and water tank from San Francisco to New York on the principal transcontinental railroads.

There seems to be no limit to the amount of poetry Gilmore can quote. "The Sinking of the Titanic," numbering 40 verses, and "The World War From Beginning to End," in 60 verses and three parts, is another literary achievement of which he can boast. He has traveled extensively and possesses an excellent vocabulary for one of limited education.—Exchange.

George developed a journalistic instinct at the early age of fifteen. With the consent of his father and some assistance from the same source, he secured a "fourteen printing contract" and started the Kinkaid's Monthly Journal, subscription price 50 cents a year, payable in advance.

"I suppose you call yourself the editor and proprietor of this office," remarked an envious young associate who dropped in at his "sanctum" in the basement of the paternal dwelling one day.

"Of course I do," responded the central journalist. "I don't owe a cent on it."

"Proprietor? Usual. Everybody knows you got $25 from your father to start it with."

"Yes, sir," stoutly rejoined George. "And it's subscription for the Journal is marked paid for years ahead on my books." Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Brief and Effective.

In fifty days or Vermont, when harvests were substantial without getting a horse, one bitter midnight, 20 degrees below zero, a couple called the square to the window. "Sawyer, in his night-shirt he asked, 'What in hell do you want?'"

"We want to be married," he answered. "The married, not be a dog, and be stammered the window down."

"This is probably the shortest wedding ceremony that coupled legal matrimony with the religious prayer." From the Record.

Boston and Montgomery.

The lady from Boston and the lady from Montgomery had taken a decided dislike to each other on the occasion of their first meeting, and it was at a fashionable reception at which they chanced to meet that the Bostonian seized an opportunity to publicly show her contempt for the Montgomeryan.

"You are from Alabama, where they still hang people, aren't you, dear?"

The Alabamaan replied: "Yes, and you, just must come down some time."—Boston Transcript.

The Star Act.

Elton Lettice, actor and solo performer in the circus, was giving an exhibition of his work, which was the door of the dressed arena. Her admirers are of the most violent sort and in the stunt she had just finished she had thrown her body back and forth with jerks that looked as though they would tear her arm from its socket.

At the end she hung motionless, by one arm, facing the glare of the spot light.

"Mamma!" piped a small voice anxiously. "I should think she'd strain her eyes."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Her Achievement.

"My wife got after a blue race, which I had bet on in the yard yesterday," related Gap Johnson of Kansas City. "After going twice around the track, as it were, she stretched her foot in a mess of urine and fell and sprained her arm. But, by gosh, she came out right. But, by gosh, she came out right that there snake's head as she went down." Kansas City Star.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the

Signature of Dr. H. H. Fletcher In Use for Over 37 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

British Columbia Iron Resources.

A complete survey of the iron resources of British Columbia will be commenced this summer. The Canadian geological survey, in cooperation with the provincial department of mines, will conduct the work. R. G. A. Young, the geological survey department's specialist, will commence the work in a few weeks.

Presence of mind leads to safety.

Rats in the Cellar, Mice in the Pantry, Cockroaches in the Kitchen

What can be more disagreeable than a home infested with pests? Destroy them with Stearns' Electric Paste, the standard exterminator for more than 45 years.

Kill rats, mice, cockroaches, waterbugs or ants in a single night. Does not blow away like powders, ready for use, better than traps. Directions in 15 languages in every box. Money back if it fails.

Farmer's Bureau Notes
R. E. RANNEY
County Agricultural Agent

Back Again.
I spent all last week around Mt. Pleasant, Vassar and Frankensmith, looking for Registered purebred Holstein bull calves, heifer calves and heifers.

I started out at 11:00, and found a lot of choice bargains for our progressive farmers.

Holsteins By the Mile.
For miles and miles around Vassar and Frankensmith, and in the country between it is full of beautiful Holstein stock, most of it being registered purebred.

Those Thrifty German Farmers.
That beautiful country is packed full of farms, practically all owned by people of German descent. They are a practical, thrifty, highly prosperous people. There are hundreds of these farm families there. They practically all have Holsteins. This ought to be a hint to us.

The Bull's the Thing.
I noticed that every farmer spoke with pride of the high breeding and high cost of the herd sire. We, too, ought to take more pride in that very thing. Their splendid animals showed that it pays to take pains with the head of the herd.

Pound Some For You.
I hustled around, mile after mile, as if my life depended on it, and found some beautiful young bulls at $50, $75, $100 each. Why not sell one, or even two, of the power cows of your herd, and buy one of these fine young bulls with the money?

I promise you that it will be a benefit to you.

Wrote it right down.

When I found a bargain in bull

Who Will Be First?
Who will be first to send for one of the registered young animals that I found on my trip?

Took My Own Medicine.
I practice what I preach. I sent home, to my own farm, a beautiful heifer calf, and expect to send home a certain splendid bull calf that I have picked out.

Pluck Wins.
Pluck wins! It always wins! Though, days be slow, and nights be dark, twist days that come and go. Still, pluck will win! Its average is sure! He wins the most, who can the most endure! Who faces issues! He who never shirks! Who waits and watches, and who always works.—Anon.

THE SAME EVERYWHERE.
The editor of Passa Akhera, a newspaper of Lahore, India, says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy many times among my children and servants, for colic and diarrhoea and always found it effective."

EDMOND ROBERTS
Messrs. Hall and Calvert of Howell, who spent a few days fishing on the AuSable, stepped for a short visit at the Watkins farm on their way home.

Mrs. Leon Gray, who for the past year has been living at Mr. Pleasant, Iowa, returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Duffell to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Diamond and children of South Bend, Ind., and Mrs. George Basing of Flint are the week's visitors at the home of the ladies mother, Mrs. Henry Hartman.

Fred Hartman and family and Violet Williams were East Jordan visitors over the Fourth.

Mrs. Elsie Cuykendall attended services at the Catholic church at Roscommon Sunday.

Howard Gibson of Sterling is assisting Mr. Crane with his farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Dunham of Grayling were Saturday callers in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Lillian Hughes made a business trip to Grayling early this week.

Mrs. Philip Hoy of Rose City is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Cook.

Robert Jackson returned Monday from the Government Hospital in Chicago.

The following trustees for the unit school system recently adopted in South Branch Township were elected at the special election held Monday, July 10th:

Trustee for 1 year, Hugo Schreiber.

Trustee for 2 years, James Williams.

Trustee for 3 years, Oliver B. Scott.

Trustee for 3 years, Fred Hartman.

Trustee for 3 years, Geo. L. Royce.

F. J. SPENCER
Lovell, Michigan.
Contractor and Builder

If you contemplate doing building, it will pay you to see me. Best of references. All work guaranteed.

6-22-9.

REVIEW ITEM
Mr. and Mrs. Atwell have gone to the plain, back-country.

Jim Scott of Brant was here looking after his chickens.

Bernard Brownell and Ed. Stack spent the week-end in Sharon.

James Grover is home after an absence of a couple of months.

Ed. Mat returned from Coleman where he spent the Fourth of July.

During the severe electrical storm Sunday evening the lightning struck a telegraph pole across the track from the hotel Riverview. It followed the wire to the telephone, melting both wires of the telephone, melting up some of the screen wire on the porch, and setting up a fire on the porch boards, but never set fire.

Fred Brownell went to Frerars City Sunday.

Miss Josie Stephens is at home.

Irvin Ingersoll has bought a Ford V. Potter is improving.

Frank Preese of Grayling took supper with the Stephens on Friday.

Jim and Luke Gibbons are home from Coff and Mitchell's camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weiss are happy over the arrival of another boy at their home.

STANDARDIZING FACTORY WORK ENABLES SHOE COMPANY TO CUT COST

The Edmonds Shoe Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, has succeeded in standardizing the manufacture of their "FOOT-ITERS" shoes, thus enabling them to manufacture a shoe of the finest quality and workmanship at a minimum cost.

This saving in cost of manufacture has been passed to the buyer and "FOOT-ITERS" can be purchased from two to three dollars less than other shoes in the same grade.

In the "FOOT-ITERS" factory each workman does just one thing—and does that well. In fact, each is a specialist in his work. This specialization or standardization of production lowers the manufacturing cost.

The Edmonds Shoe Company has further standardized their production by having but one factory specification. That is one quality, one grade, and one leather. But four lasts are used, giving five styles that enables a purchaser to select from a variety of patterns.

"FOOT-ITERS" have already made a name for themselves and are leaving a host of friends and wearers wherever they appear.

A well known slogan of the company is "Wear a pair yourself." They are sold in Grayling by Esborn Olson.

Adv.

NOTICE

To the owner or owners of any and all interests in or liens upon the land herein described:

Take notice that sale has been lawfully made of the following described land for unpaid taxes thereon, and that the undersigned has title thereto under tax deed or deeds issued therefor, and that you are entitled to a redemption thereof at any time within six months after return of service of this notice, upon payment to the undersigned or to the Register in Chancery of the County in which the land lies, of all sums paid upon such purchase, together with one hundred per cent additional thereto, and the fees of the Sheriff for the service or cost of publication of this notice, to be computed as upon personal service of a declaration as commencement of suit, and the further sum of five dollars for each description of land, and other additional cost or charges. If payment at assessment is not made the undersigned will institute proceedings for possession of the land.

Description of land:

State of Michigan, ss.

County of Crawford

"The Northeast quarter of the Northeast quarter of Sec. 4, Town 27 North, Range 1 West. Amount paid $6.66. Tax for year 1915.

Dated May 17th, 1922.

Amount of redemption, $18.32 plus the fees of the Sheriff.

Henry A. Bauman.

Place of business: Grayling, Michigan.

To Gratwick, Smith and Fryer Lumber Company, last grantee in the regular chain title of such lands or of any interest therein as appearing by the records in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County.

To N. C. Cotabish grantee under the tax deed issued by the Auditor General for the latest year's taxes appearing of record in said registry of deeds.

State of Michigan ss.

County of Crawford

I, Do hereby Certify and Return, that on the seventeenth day of May, A. D. 1922, I served the within notice upon N. C. Cotabish and to whom said notice is addressed, the said person being a non-resident of this state, by depositing copies of said notice in the United States Postoffice at the Village of Grayling in said County, for transmission through the United States mail enclosed in a sealed envelope, and registered, with postage fully prepaid plainly addressed to N. C. Cotabish the above named person at his post office address as obtained by and known to me as follows: N. C. Cotabish, Lakewood, Ohio, a receipt for said registered letter signed by N. C. Cotabish said above named person, and a bill of exchange and form a part of this return.

My fees, $1.10.

Ernest P. Richardson, Sheriff of the County of Crawford.

7-13-4.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 26th day of September, A. D. 1917, executed by Alva E. Hittie, and Stella M. Hittie, his wife, of the City of Elwood, State of Indiana, to George Burke, of the County of Crawford, State of Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, in Liber 11 of Mortgages on page 229, on the 8th day of November, A. D. 1917, at eight o'clock p. m.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of one hundred eighty-three and 75/100 ($183.75) dollars of principal and interest, and the further sum of fifteen dollars in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the Village of Grayling, in said County of Crawford, on the 7th day of October, A. D. 1922, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, which said premises are described as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land, situate and being in the Township of Vreeland, County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, described as Lot Nine, of Block Thirteen, of Hadley's Second Addition to the Village of Grayling, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated May 3rd, 1922.

Anthony Trudeau, Mortgagee.

Homer L. Fitch, Attorney for Mortgagee, Business Address: Grayling, Mich. 7-12-13.

WHY SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM.

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION.

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made me miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally," writes Mrs. Roba Potts, Birmingham, Ala.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE STOMACH AND LIVER.

"Chamberlain's Tablets for the stomach and liver are splendid. I never tire of telling my friends and neighbors of their qualities," writes Mrs. William Palmer, Eastwood, N. Y. When bilious, constipated, or troubled with indigestion, give them a trial. They will do you good.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

The Circuit Court for the County of Crawford in Chancery.

Ethel Davis, Plaintiff, vs. John R. Davis, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for Crawford County, in Chancery, on the tenth day of June, A. D. 1922, at the Village of Grayling, in said County of Crawford.

It is satisfactorily appearing to the court by affidavit on file that a chancery summons has been duly issued out of and under the seal of said court, for the appearance of said defendant therein, and that the same could not be served on the defendant because after diligent search and inquiry it could not be ascertained in what state or county the said defendant resides, or the whereabouts of said defendant learned, and that the said chancery summons has been returned by the sheriff of Gogebic County, State of Michigan, the last known place of residence of the defendant with his certificate thereon endorsed that after diligent search and inquiry he was unable to find the said defendant through the United States mail enclosed in a sealed envelope, and registered, with postage fully prepaid plainly addressed to N. C. Cotabish the above named person at his post office address as obtained by and known to me as follows: N. C. Cotabish, Lakewood, Ohio, a receipt for said registered letter signed by N. C. Cotabish said above named person, and a bill of exchange and form a part of this return.

My fees, $1.10.

Ernest P. Richardson, Sheriff of the County of Crawford.

7-13-4.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 10th day of August, A. D. 1920, executed by Floyd Daney and Male Denoyes, his wife, of the Village of Grayling, County of Crawford, State of Michigan, to Anthony Trudeau, Sr., of the same place, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the County of Crawford and State of Michigan in Liber 1 of Mortgages on page 276 and 277 on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1920 at one o'clock p. m.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of three hundred ninety-one and 84/100 ($391.84) dollars of principal and interest, and the further sum of thirty dollars in said mortgage, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the Village of Grayling, in said County of Crawford, on the 3rd day of August, A. D. 1922, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, which said premises are described as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land, situate and being in the Village of Grayling, County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, described as Lot Nine, of Block Thirteen, of Hadley's Second Addition to the Village of Grayling, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated May 3rd, 1922.

Anthony Trudeau, Mortgagee.

Homer L. Fitch, Attorney for Mortgagee, Business Address: Grayling, Mich. 7-12-13.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, dated the 5th day of March, 1906, executed by Fred Sholts and Belle Sholts, his wife, to Eliza J. Brott, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Crawford County, Michigan, in Liber B of mortgages on page 510, on March 19th, 1910, and which said mortgage was assigned by Eliza J. Brott, to William H. Wallace on February 21, 1910 and which assignment is recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Crawford County, Michigan, in Liber G of mortgages on page 635, on March 28, 1910.

And whereas, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is $197.92 principal and interest and the further sum of $25.00 attorney fee as provided for in said mortgage and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law or in equity to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the Village of Grayling, Crawford County, Michigan, on July 25, 1922, at one o'clock in the afternoon, which premises are described as follows:

The east half of the southeast quarter of section twenty, in township twenty-five, north range three west, excepting one acre off the southeast corner, Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County, Michigan.

Dated April 25, 1922.

William H. Wallace, Assignee of Mortgage.

Merle F. Nellist, Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage, Business address, Mio, Michigan. 4-27-13.

RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself often and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes Mrs. Newton Vreeland, Mio, N. Y. Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion and they will do you good.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

Every family should keep this preparation at hand during the hot of the summer months. It is almost sure to be needed, and when that time comes, is worth many times its cost. Buy it now.

DIRECTORY
BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL

PROBATE COURT
Crawford County, Mich.
Sessions—First and Third Monday of every month.
Hours:—9 o'clock a. m. to 12 noon.
1 o'clock p. m. to 5 o'clock p. m.
Any information and first Proceeding in connection with this Court will be had at my office at Sorsness Bros.
GEORGE BORENSEN
Judge of Probate.

BANK OF GRAYLING
Successor to Crawford County Exchange Bank.
MARIUS HANSON
Proprietor

Interest paid on certificates of deposit. Collections promptly attended to. All accommodations extended that are consistent with safe and conservative banking.

Marius Hanson, Cashier.

O. PALMER
Office in Avalanche Building.

Drs. Keyport & Howell
PHYSICIANS & SURGEONS
Office next to Peterson's Jewelry Store.

Special attention to Eye refraction. Office Hours—2-4, 7-8 p. m. Sundays by appointments.

C. A. Canfield, D. D. S.
DENTIST
OFFICE:
over Alexander's Law Office on Michigan Avenue.
Office hours: 8:30 a. m. 1-3:30 p. m.

Dr. J. J. Love
DENTIST
Phone 1271
Hours: 9 to 11:30 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. Office: Over Simpson Co.'s grocery.

C. J. HATHAWAY
OPTOMETRIST
Suite 223-224, American Bank Bldg. Pontiac, Mich.
Office hours: 8:30 to 12:00; 1 to 5 p. m.; and by appointment. Phone 247.
Practice confined exclusively to refraction of the eye.

HOMER L. FITCH
Prosecuting Attorney
Crawford County
General Practice
Surety Bonds. Insurance.

KELSDEN & KELSDEN
Mondays and Wednesdays from 2:30 to 9:00 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, Thursdays and Friday all day.
Over Salling Hanson Co. Hardware Store.
Licensed Chiropractors
Examination and Consultation Free

Hendrickson Bros.
Men's Fine Tailoring
Suits and Overcoats to Order
Phone 614.
Open 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

TUTTLE'S SWEDISH BATH HOUSE
426 North Main Street
Electric Light and Gas Heated Sweet Bath; Electric and Swedish Massage; Salt Rubs, Gymnastics and Galvanic Baths.
Treatments for Nervousness, Stiff Joints, Lumbago, Pleurisy, Sciatica and Inflammatory Rheumatism.
For Ladies and Gentlemen.
Treatments $2.00 Each.
CHEBOYGAN, MICH.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, or the ears may become completely closed. Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube. Halls Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Halls Catarrh Medicine. Circular free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

RUGGLES

The World's Greatest Truck Value

RUGGLES
TWO-TON
Complete
$2135

When you can buy a completely equipped two-ton, stake body, enclosed cab truck at $2135, why pay more?

A truck that is built in Saginaw where you can personally watch every process in its construction; where you can see for yourself the quality of materials, the dependable units, the extreme care and infinite precision of every important operation.

A truck that is not an experiment but a proven success, built by Frank W. Ruggles, the world's master truck builder, and his experienced staff of engineers and assistants. He has culminated all his seven years of big production experience in the truck that bears his name and in a few short months has attained a production that has astonished the motor industry.

Let us show you the Ruggles Two-Ton Truck and then take a trip through the factory with us and let us explain the tremendous advantage of having this factory within a few hours ride to give you service in any emergency.

Ruggles 2-ton chassis.....$1795
Stake body.....200
Enclosed cab.....140
• Complete as shown.....$2135

Bolton Auto Co.

DISTRIBUTORS
Sales and Service, Corner Jones and Baum, Saginaw, Mich.

FORD OWNERS

Chattering brake bands are caused by faulty lubrication.

Warco Motor Oil

stops this annoying trouble. For sale by the following:
Burke's Garage

YOUR COMPLEXION is muddy. You look haggard and yellow. Your eyes are losing their lustre. The trouble is with your liver. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will correct that. Then avoid meats, hot bread and hot cakes, take frequent baths and a long walk every day, and you will soon be as well and as beautiful as ever. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Tablets